Only In Ross Will There Be No Contest

In nine of Marin's 10 cities, among them embracing nearly half the county's population, voters tomorrow will choose men and women to decide their cities' laws.

Only San Rafael will have no election, as it elects in odd-numbered years under city charter provisions.

There will be races for city council in all but two of the municipalities. Three of them have ballot issues up to the people.

VARIED TURN OUT

Registration in most cities is down slightly from two years ago. Voter turnout will likely vary widely. Traditionally, half or fewer than half of Marin's city dwellers bother to vote on who will govern them.

Novato, striving for a better voter turnout, will keep polls open until 8 p.m. In the other eight cities—Belvedere, Corte Madera, Fairfax, Larkspur, Mill Valley, Ross, San Anselmo and Sausalito — voting hours will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Only Ross has nothing for the voters to decide. There three candidates seek three positions on the city council, clerk and treasurer are without opposition, and there is no ballot measure before the voters.

Corte Madera has no contest for the three council positions at stake. But there, a $200,000 bond issue for a public safety building is to be decided. The issue, which requires a two-thirds vote for passage, failed two years ago.

ANOTHER IN

In contrast, Sausalito has nine candidates for three city council positions on the ballot, including one who produced much controversy and almost won election two years ago: Marsha Owen (better known as Sally Stanford).

A 10th candidate appeared today as a last-minute write-in entry. He is Robert Goshen, former mayor and city councilman, who declared campaign literature of other candidates had caused him to enter the race.
council positions, including one who produced much controversy and almost won election two years ago: Marsha Owen (better known as Sally Stanford).

How the candidates fare may also influence selection of a fourth city council member in Sausalito, as Mayor Paul Micou has announced he will resign following the election, since he is moving away to accept a job with the federal government. The three council members elected tomorrow and holdover Jan Paul Dyk will therefore

Ross, Lagunitas, Hub School Votes Slated

Voters in the Ross, Lagunitas and San Anselmo School Districst will go to the polls tomorrow to cast baliots on proposed bond issues and increases in the maximum general purpose tax rates for school operation.

SAN ANSELMO

Construction of the new Redhill School depends on voter approval in the San Anselmo district in which a $700,000 bond issue and a $500,000 state loan have been proposed.

Two-thirds of the voters must approve the proposals to permit construction of the new school in two stages with six classrooms being completed within two years and the remaining 11 rooms ready for occupancy as needed during the next six years.

Plans also call for adding three classrooms and a library, multi-purpose room and administration offices at Hidden Valley School during the coming four years and the construction of an addition at Sleepy Hollow School to make the school library available for classroom use.

Polls in the San Anselmo District will be located at Isabel Cook, Brookside, Wade Thomas, Yolansdale and Sleepy Hollow schools, the City Hall and at Redwood Moving and Storage Co., 230 Greenfield Avenue. They will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

LAGUNITAS

Voters in the Lagunitas School District will be asked to approve a 65-cent increase in the $2 maximum general purpose tax rate per $100 assessed valuation.

Taxpayers are currently paying 26 cents in override taxes and 20 cents toward redemption of bonded indebtedness per $100 assessed valuation in addition to the $2 general purpose tax rate.

A "dangerously low" emergency fund and increased salaries for district personnel have created the need for the increase, according to Dist. Supt. Clifford L. Frye.

The one polling place in the district at the Lagunitas School Library will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

ROSS

A $400,000 bond issue for classroom construction and a 50-cent increase in the $2.20 maximum operating tax rate per $100 assessed valuation will be submitted for voter approval in the Ross School District.

District taxpayers are paying a general purpose tax rate of $2.15 per $100 assessed valuation plus 12 cents in override taxes and 17 cents for bond redemption per $100 assessed valuation.

If the proposals are approved, construction of seven classrooms on land adjacent to the present school site and an up-

D.A. Seeking Indictments Of Suspects

Other Evidence Of Felony Cases Also To Be Listed

Murder indictments against John Lee King, 28, and Robert Lee Jones, 25, in the Sausalito killing of Donald G. Corbett Jr. were to be sought by the Marin district attorney's office at a special session of the grand jury at 2 p.m. today.

Fredericks of Luxor Cabs and Clifford Hutchinson, Yellow Cab; Sylvester Schladweiler, owner of Harbor Liquor Store on the Redwood Highway in Alto, and Bernardine Streiker of Tomahawk Lodge, north of Novato, were present.

Bales and Donald Midyett, chief criminal investigator for the district attorney's office, declined today to reveal whether positive identification of King and Jones resulted from the lineups.

DRIVERS ROBBED

The cab drivers were robbed of about $25 each on March 14 in separate incidents in Marin County; Bernardine Streiker said a lodge room was stripped of all portable objects March 12, and Schaldweiler was robbed of $450 at gunpoint March 25.

Both Jones and King are being held in county jail without bail.

Fatal Fire Accidental, Chief Says

Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said today the $37,000 apartment fire Friday at 404 San Francisco Boulevard just north of San Anselmo city limits, which resulted in death of a women, was apparently accidental.

He said both Marin sheriff's office and National Board of Fire Underwriters checked into possibilty of arson, but were satisfied today that none existed.

Chief Bloom said there was a possibilty the victim, Mrs. Katheryn Winifred Miller, 47, fell asleep in a chair of the Miller apartment with a lighted cigarette.

"We feel this is aparently what happened ," he said.

The blaze gutted two second-story apartments of the frame building about 7:25 p.m. Friday but was brought under control by county and San Anselmo firemen. The victim's body was burned beyond recognition. Her husband, Harry C., 65, was not home at time of the blaze.

Angels Beat Senators 4-0 In Season Opener

Adcock Is Bat Star For L.A.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ken McBride and Julio Navarro took over the pitching duties from President Lyndon B. Johnson today and tossed the Los Angeles Angels to a one hit 4-0 victory over Washington to open the 1964 American League baseball season.

Although threatening clouds hung over D.C. Stadium throughout the afternoon, the pitching of McBride and Navarro and Joe Adcock's three hits did more to dampen Johnson's presidential pitching debut than the occasional raindrops that fell.

It was a gloomy start for the 40,145 Washington fans who turned out in hopes their Senators might escape the cellar, after finishing there the past three seasons.

Washington starter Claude Osteen managed the only Washington hit, a long fly ball that bounced off the center field fence in the third inning and was good for a double.

The Angels had nine hits, with Adcock, acquired in an off-season deal with Cleveland, leading the way with a double and two singles.

Los Angeles jumped into the lead in the third inning on Billy Fregosi and Adcock's double that drove in Moran.

They stretched their lead to 3-0 in the fifth on another walk to Fregosi, a single by Adcock, who took second on the throw to third, and a single by Lee Thomas.

The Angels wound up their scoring in the eighth on a triple to center field by catcher Bob Rodgers, who scored on Bobby Knoop's slow roller to first

Engle Appears In Senate, Can't Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) was unable to speak today when he tried to introduce a resolution personally in the Senate.

Through an arrangement made privately, Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) who was speaking on the civil rights bill, yielded temporarily to Engle.

The ailing California senator, who underwent brain surgery last Aug. 24, rose from his seat assisted by two aides.

After a minute of silence, in which Engle uttered only "A . . . ," Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) asked if he could introduce the resolution on Engle's behalf. Engle nodded affirmatively, and McNamara took the resolution from his hand and spoke the necessary few words.

The resolution would direct the Atomic Energy Commission to delay a permit for a nuclear power plant on Bodega Head, 50 miles north of San Francisco, until it could affirm the safety of the site 1,000 feet from the San Andreas earthquake fault.

Engle remained on the Senate floor only a few minutes.

He was assisted in walking by two aides. He carried his right arm in a sling and used a cane in his left hand.

He and his wife Nola, members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, were in Salt Lake City to attend a Mormon conference.

Baker sailed the 40-ton Lehi V, drifting on currents, from Redondo Beach to Hawaii in 69 days in 1958.

CORE Calls Truce On Picketing

Pickets have been withdrawn from before the office of Ted Gibson Realtor, 328 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, pending "intensive negotiations" between the Marin Congress or Racial Equality and Gibson's attorney, Albert Bianchi.

Bianchi and Douglass Quiett, chairman of Marin Core, said today they are hopeful the matter can be fully resolved soon.

Picketing has been going on for more than seven weeks following CORE's claim Gibson showed discrimination against Negroes in showing homes. CORE has asked that Gibson display a fair housing sign in his window, advertise as a fair housing real estate broker, and make a general statement that he will no longer discriminate.

PENNSAUKEN, N.J. (UPI)—Chubby Checker, the Negro singer who put the twist to rock-'n-roll, and his white bride from Holland put off honeymoon plans today to begin a tour of the nightclub circuit for two or three months.

Checker and the former Catherina Lodders, winner of the "Miss World" contest last year, were married yesterday in a simple, double-ring ceremony at Temple Lutheran Church. The Rev. George L. Garver, pastor, officiated but made no reference to the inter-racial nature of their marriage.

DEMO UNIT WILL NOT AID UNRUH

17 Others To Run Without Backing Because Of Records

FRESNO (UPI) — Eighteen Democrats seeking state and national office—including Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh — will run for election this year without the blessing of the influential California Democratic Council.

The CDC's board of directors, meeting here over the weekend, refused to endorse the 18 Democrats because of their records of opposition to CDC principles.

The CDC's snub of Unruh was another chapter in the running feud between the Assembly Speaker and the CDC. The directors cited his handling of the Assembly in refusing to back Unruh.

OTHERS LISTED

In addition to Unruh, the board of directors refused to support three candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives, two candidates for the state Senate and 12 candidates for the Assembly.

The directors' action means the 18 candidates will not have their names on CDC campaign literature and will not have access to the CDC corps of volunteer campaign workers.

Unruh and five other men who were snubbed by the board of directors had been endorsed by local CDC groups. But the board reversed the local endorsements.

BACK INITIATIVE

Two of those men, Carley Porter of Compton and Sam Rifkin of Glendale were rejected because they signed petitions circulated by the California Real Estate Board Assn. to place the controversial anti-fair housing initiative on the ballot.

Both men defended their actions by saying they felt the people should have the opportunity to vote on the initiative. Both have promised to work for the defeat of the initiative.

But the directors ruled that Porter and Rifkin had acted in defiance of the official policy position on the initiative taken by the CDC at its Long Beachc convention.

Porter is a candidate in the 38th Assembly district and Rifkin in the 43rd Assembly district.

The three congressional candidates who were rejected were incumbent Rep. Charles Wilson of the 31st district in Los Angeles, Assemblyman Tom Bane, who is seeking the seat held by retiring Rep. Everett G. Burkhalter in the 12th district, and Rep. Brook Cameron of Whittier in the 25th district.

State Senate candidates who failed to get the directors' support were incumbents Paul Lunardi of Roseville in the 7th district and Luther Gibson of Vallejo in the 15th district.

Tornadoes Rip Three States, Killing Six

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Dazed survivors picked through the rubble of homes and business buildings today in the wake of tornadoes that slashed through eastern Kansas, western Missouri and southwestern Iowa.

Six persons were killed and at least 50 were injured.

Most of the twisters snaked out of thunderstorms that could be seen for miles in the late afternoon — otherwise the toll could have been greater.

Two lines of the storms bracketed Kansas City—one to the northwest, the other southeast — and rolled rapidly to the northeast.

One twister sucked up a line of traffic on U. S. 59 five miles south of Garnett and hurled a 50,000-pound truck, a pickup truck and six cars in all directions.

A tornado roared over Leavenworth, Kan., not quite touching down, but close enough to damage about 75 homes, smash windows in the business district and uproot many trees. Seven persons were injured there.

San Marin Map Before Planners

A tentative map of San Marin Unit 10 of 251 lots on 65 acres will be considered by the Novato Planning Commission at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Community House.

This is the 10th unit of the development by Sunset International Petroleum Corp. on the former Freitas C ranch.

P. J. Tarrant is asking architectural supervision for one 16-unit and two 20-unit apartment buildings to the rear of 1133 to 1139 Fourth Street.

Gus Ravetz is asking rezoning from multiple family to light industrial for five acres on Railroad Avenue north of Olive Avenue.

Budget, School Bills Face Debate In Capitol

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Will there be a four-cent-a-pack bump in cigarette taxes?

Should the state go into the tourism business?

How many more millions can the schools expect in state aid?

What are chances for a state-operated lottery, using vending machines?

And how about Gov. Brown's 3.67 billion-dollar budget?

This may be the week for at least partial decisions on these and other questions awaiting action by a special session legislature that shows no inclination to hurry.

Here's a rundown on prospects:

BUDGET—Minority Republicans are expected to present their proposals for 63.5 million-dollars in cuts to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee tomorrow.

The Democrats have offered to talk compromise in an effort to gain the necessary Republican votes for passage of the budget.

SCHOOLS—Ways and Means may act as well on two of the major measures for increasing state support for public schools.

Legislation by Assemblyman Charles Garrigus (D-Reedley) seeks 98 million dollars, plus 28 million dollars from a county-wide school tax. A rival bill by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles) offers 40 million dollars this year and 75 million dollars over a two-year period, tied to school district unification.

TAXES — Two bills to boost the present three-cent cigarette tax are docketed for a Ways and Means hearing Wednesday. Both earmark the new revenue for education.

Neither is given much hope of enactment.

LOTTERY—Ways and Means again, will look over two plans by Assemblyman Alan Pattee, (R-Salinas) to let the lure of big sweepstakes prizes enrich the state treasury.

His first approach is for a state-operated lottery, with $2 tickets sold through machines. Of the proceeds, 30 per cent would be set aside for prizes, 10 per cent for administration and the balance for education.

TOURISM—The Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee has scheduled a hearing Wednesday on Assembly-passed legislation to establish a California Office of Development.

Senate Minority Leader John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) announced he will oppose the Brown administration measure. Gov. Brown contends the agency would more than pay for itself in new business and tourist dollars.

Talk On Insects

Blake Maddox of the California Chemical Co. will give an illustrated talk on the "World of a Thousand Insects" at an open meeting of the Garden Society of Marin at Room 40, Chemistry Building, College of Marin at 8 p.m. Friday.

Young GOP Opposes Hall For Senate

Candidate In Turn Blasts Group As Ultra-Right

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Directors of the California Young Republicans have made clear dislike for the GOP senatorial candidacy of former Kansas Gov. Fred Hall.

That doesn't bother Hall, who stood up in front of the state board yesterday and declared:

"I do not desire your endorsement. I am a moderate Republican. There is no possible way our minds can meet."

That was minutes after Lee Kaiser, another senatorial nomination candidate in the June 2 primary, called Hall "irresponsible . . . a failure . . . a liar. I don't think Hall's a Republican. I met him outside in the hall and asked him to take off his glasses so I could punch him in the nose."

Hall, now living in Long Beach, accuses the Young Republicans of being dominated by the far right and influenced by the John Birch Society. He has called Kaiser and the third candidate, former actor George Murphy, ultraconservatives.

"I will support the party candidate" for senator, Hall replied to a question from Young Republican President John Gromala. He didn't answer Gromala's shouted demand to know whether he would back Kaiser or Murphy specifically, if either gets the nomination.

Gromala, who declared Hall had removed himself from the Republican party, said: "In the event Fred Hall . . . gets the Republican nomination, I would not support him."

He said he spoke for himself only, but the group of about 100 cheered his words, and shouted angrily at Hall such things as "Better dead than Fred!" while Hall walked from the room and refused to answer questions.

Kaiser, greeted by a standing ovation, said "I'm on the same wave length as Barry Goldwater," whose name and picture adorned the speaker's stand.

Kaiser, contending "I'm way out in front" in the race, said he differs from Murphy in that "I have convictions."

A straw poll of the directors and other Republicans present gave Kaiser a 71-23 nod over Murphy for the nomination.

New Building Is Good Mike Stand

If you don't believe there's a fascination covering the opening of a new building—were you at the recent ribbon cutting ceremony of the new Wells Fargo Bank in San Rafael?... We broadcast that event, by the way. Not only were the bank people proud of their accomplishment but most of the subcontractors felt the same way . . . Ghilotti Brothers, Shamrock Materials, Marin Plastics and Jack DeMello were so enthused about the outcome they even bought time on KTIMarin to let the world know . . .

TWO GREAT SPORT EVENTS this week—Novato meets San Rafael 4 p.m. Friday in the first MCAL baseball broadcast sponsored by the KTIMarin Sportsman's Club . . . This is the first of seven broadcasts, mostly at 4 o'clock. KARL BARRON is the voice of MCAL . . . Oh, yes—the other ball game will be handled by RUSS HODGES and LON SIMMONS on KSFO from one of the ball parks in the city . . . LISTENERS to KTIMarin's HOTLINE (morning and afternoon commute service) are surprised to learn that traffic coverage we provide is the result of about 20 observers all up and down the highway, from WARREN GLASS on Wolfback Ridge above Waldo Grade—to ARCHIE'S MOBILE STATION at Olive Avenue, Novato . . . We are in continuous contact with all the observers during commute rushes. Our information is as accurate and reliable as 20 reporters can make it . . . And, you know—there are fewer rear-enders lately!

baseman Bill Skowron.

McBride was in command until the seventh inning, when with one out, he walked two straight men and had a 2-0 count on the third. Navarro came in, completed the third walk and then struck out pinch hitter Dick Phillips and forced Don Blasingame to end the inning with an easy roller to first base.

For Washington fans, most of the interested centered around around the Presidential box, where Johnson sat surrounded by congressional leaders and members of the house.

The presidential first pitch turned out to be a soft lob that landed amidst the massed players from both teams. Angel coach Salty Parker dove under the pile-up and outwrestled Washington pitcher Dave Stenhouse for the ball.

The president's second toss, for the benefit of photographers, sailed far out over the mass of players and was snagged on the fly by Senator pitcher Bernie Daniels.

Johnson lost all the Senators seated with him in the presidential box in the third inning, when a call came from the Capitol summoning them back for a quorum call on the Civil Rights Bill.

Woman Found Dead After Fall At Home

Mrs. Mildren Pauline Garol, 53, of 27 Locksley Lane, San Rafael, was found dead in her living room yesterday with a deep gash in her forehead as the result of a fall in her bathroom.

Her body was found at 9:55 a.m. by her son, Hugh 19, a student at University of California at Berkeley.

Police estimated that Mrs. Garol died sometime between 10 p.m., when her son retired, and 3 a.m. Police said she had been subject to fainting spells and is believed to have fainted in the bathroom. Evidence indicated she had cleaned up blood stains in the bathroom before leaving.

"Now is the time to establish a firm place for art in the curriculum," he told about 150 persons gathered at San Rafael High School Saturday for the spring conference of the North Coast Section of the Pacific Arts Assn.

The State Department of Education staff is vitally interested in a balance of curriculum and will give every support to the arts, Dr. Reynolds said.

For the past six years the emphasis has been on mathematics, science and foreign langauges, he said. "I think now there is hope the setting is favorable to move ahead and get the balance we need."

Five-Auto Accident Injures Marin Airman

A 22-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base airman was injured, and a Petaluma man's sedan demolished, in a five-car accident at 1:15 p.m. Saturday on Highway 101 just north of the Civic Center turnoff.

Four of the cars were involved in a chain collision, the California Highway Patrol reported. The fifth swerved to avoid the others and went off the road.

A/3c Robert E. Campbell, 22, of the 78th Electronics and Maintenance Squadron, Hamiltno Air Force Base, complained of a stiff neck and head pains after the mishap, and said he would seek treatment at the base hospital.

Campbell's 1957 Mercury was the third in line in the four-car pileup, which took place in the northbound high-speed lane.

Judged a total loss was a 1958 Buick driven by Richard David Savoy, 50, of Petaluma. The patrol said Savoy, who was behind Campbell, swerved to the right but was unable to avoid striking Campbell's car.

At the same time, Ronald Walker Helliwell, 41, of 950 Adrain Way, San Rafael, was driving his 1959 Cadillac in another lane. Seeing the Savoy vehicle swerve toward him, he veered sharply to the right and left the roadway, knocking down a speed limit sign.

Identities of the first two drivers were unknown, the patrol said, since they left the scene before officers arrived.

Lane-Divider Tube Smashes Windshield

The California Highway Patrol today was seeking the identity of a woman motorist who unknowingly caused a Golden Gate Bridge lane divider tube to crash through a car's windshield Saturday.

Mrs. Vera Heatlie, 46, of San Francisco was cut on both arms in the freak accident.

The patrol said the tube, which has a steel base to weigh it down, flew through the air after it was struck by the unknown woman's car at 11:45 a.m. It then broke the windshield of a Volvo sedan driven by Mrs. Heatlie's husband, James E. Heatlie, 53.

Heatlie, who was driving toward Marin when the strange object hit his windshild, continued at slow speed until he reached Sausalito, where he stopped at the police station to report the accident.

A witness to the mishap, Cornelius Hyata of 29 Nelson Avenue, Mill Valley, told the patrol he saw a 1963 Ford, with three women in it, veer, then hit the tube. It continued without stopping, he said.

Edith Seros Named Engle Campaign Head

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Edith Seros, former secretary of the California Democratic Committee, was named today as campaign director for Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) in his bid for re-election.

Engle, who underwent brain surgery last August, has not yet been able to return to California for active personal participation in his bid for renomination.

Junior High Shorter Day Before Board

The San Rafael Board of Education will consider shortening the junior high school day or using an override tax to increase the teaching staff at a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the schools administration building.

Members will receive a staff report that funds are not available for the additional staff needed to reduce the teacher load in junior high schools and maintain the eight-period day.

The alternatives are the seven-period day or the override tax. Last month board members agreed they would rather increase the teaching staff at an additional cost of $30,000 to $35,000 a year than cut back the program in junior high schools.

The state legislature recently approved an overrride tax for junior high schools with the stipulation that the district must show the need for the funds.

A. MacKenzie Cantin of the architectural firm of Cantin and Associates will review the proposed master plan for the Glenwood Junior High School site and plans for additions at Sun Valley and Gallinas schools.

The board also will receive a proposed program for educationally handicapped students, a proposed civil defense and disaster plan for San Rafael City Schools, a draft of the preliminary budget for the elementary school district, and a list of proposed projects under the National Defense Education Act.

Orchard Favors Neutral Vietnam

Merle Orchard of Ukiah, a Democratic aspirant for Congress in the First District, told 150 at a Marin reception for him Friday that he favors a neutralized Vietnam.

Speaking mostly on foreign policy, Orchard said such neutralization would probably be the most logical move.

Orchard also said that the "spread of Castroism" must be prevented.

"We must avoid nuclear war by being ready to negotiate, but always from a position of strength and patience," he said.

The reception was held at the Frances Young Gallery at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

GIVEN SUPPORT

Ungraded System Appears Working

By BRUCE COLEMAN

The "locked step" method of teaching in three experimental first through third grade classes at Marin City's Manzanita School was tossed out last September and the ungraded system substituted.

In the brief trial period, the ungraded system has won enthusiastic support from school Principal Morris Brown, the three teachers involved, and many parents. There is a possibility of expading the program to all the school's classes.

The principles of the ungraded method are:

(1 Teach at the speed at which the child can progress; (2) eliminate competition in the classroom and let the pupil "compete against himself" and (3) eliminate the stigma of not passing since a pupil is not held back nor flunked.

We were introduced to some phases of the program in the classroom of Mrs. Rose Peterson. There were 12 pupils, 11 Negroes and one white. Of these, four, ages 9 and 10, were seated around a table with Mrs. Peterson reading in turns, and the remainder, aged 8, were scattered through the room at desks working in work books.

Occasionally one "in the field" would go to the teacher, ask for help, and return to his seat. This did not interrupt the foursome.

"What happens to most vowels when there is a silent 'E' on the end?" asked the teacher. "They're long," replied Carl Garrison. "Correct," said Mrs. Peterson.

Levester Hall, reading at his desk about "a white whale," went to Mrs. Peterson, asked a question, received an answer, returned and sat down and continued working. There was a distinct hum in the room. Learning was going on.

The class was small, Mrs. Peterson said later, because the staggered reading system is employed with one-half the class coming a period earlier than the other.

Said Mrs. Peterson, who teaches the middle group of three sections: "Once they want to learn you have it made. I honestly believe in the system for all children, first grade through eighth. I think 'locked step' (one grade, one teacher, one classroom) is completely outmoded."

There were nine pupils in the classroom of Mrs. Lucille de Poli. It was also a reading class.

"Reading is always the most difficult for children that have trouble," said she.

"Arithmetic is easier to catch them up on and you can do this sometimes in a month." She, too, was very spirited about the program.

She, Mrs. Peterson and Brown attended 12 ungraded classes at several schools last year in Torrance, Los Angeles County, and returned with strong recommendations that the system be tried experimentally at Manzanita.

"We don't retain anyone," said Mrs. Peterson. "Puplis are allowed to work at their own rate of speed and you don't give them a test until you know they can pass."

Pupils under the 'locked-step' system might be sent to fifth grade doing second or third grade work, said Brown. Now it is hoped and expected that by the time pupils reach fifth the most a pupil might be behind is one-half grade level.

"It's hard to measure results of the program in less than one year," commented Brown. "However, results appear to be more encouraging than we had contemplated."

Asked if the ungraded method is similar to the old one-room schoolhouse in practice, Brown said, "we do not resemble the little red schoolhouse in any fashion whatsoever."

Mrs. de Poli, with the youngest group, has 26 pupils; Mrs. Peterson, the middle group, 25, and Mrs. Byrnece Anderson, the oldest, 22.

Length of stay with one teacher ranges from half a year to two years.

Brown said the children work through second and fourth grade books, use the same materials and books and audio visual aids as in regular classes.

Parents, too, are enthusiastic, said Mrs. de Poli. "One woman told me," she said, "I wish to God you had had this program in the past so my older ones would not have gone on without being able to do the work.' "

Important to the program, but on a secondary basis, are the extracurricular projects, which have been increased. Pupils, for example, listened to records of the Nutcracker Suite in class, attended the ballet in San Francisco during Christmas vacation in a school class group, then wrote stories about it.

They visited Dominican College where they had an art lessson with college students.

"We went to Stinson Beach," said Brown. "Some pupils had never seen the ocean. We brought down the flying rifles drill team from Hamilton Air Force Base. One boy, Ronnie Small, said, 'Can colored people join the Army?'

"We also went to Coit Tower, the Palace of the Legion of Honor and to the Planetarium in San Francisco."

Earth Fills In 2 Roles

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Kentucky is getting double duty from some of the earth and rock fills necessary for construction. It is turning them into dams for small lakes.

Highway Commissioner Henry Ward says Kentucky is the only state to use this plan extensively and adds it cuts down considerably on the size and cost of drainage structures for highways.

The state builds these fill dams whenever feasible in the course of normal censtruction, the commissioner adds.

McCarthy Raps Proposed Office For Development

Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), announced today he would oppose the proposed Office of California Development when the matter comes up for another hearing before a Senate committee this week.

"As the Legislature searches every possible avenue for new revenue sources to finance California's growing demand in education and other fields, we can little afford to be voting luxuriously and foolishly for additional bureaus which would accomplish too little, employ too many and cost too much," said McCarthy.

He said he would urge the Senate governmental efficiency committee to reject Gov. Edmund G. Brown's "proposal for a tax-financed tourism bureau."

Marin Arts Quartet, Youth Orchestra Shine

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

This weekend offered Marin music lovers two concerts representing the acme in musical sophistication and youthful novices' first steps on the road to skilled musicianship in public performance.

First was the closing concert in the seventh annual series of the Marin Arts Quartet at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley yesterday afternoon. The second was the Marin Youth Orchestra's spring concert in Angelico Hall in San Rafael.

One of the finest of the quartet's concert we have heard, yesterday's program was outstanding for remarkable performances by the Meachams—Charles on the violin and Robaline, the piano—in Chausson's dazzling "Concerto in D Major for Violin, Piano and String Quartet."

With cellist Jean Maguire, violinist Cicely Edmunds, violist Elizabeth Bell and guest violinist William Wegman providing a rich textured ensemble, the whole group gave an electrifying performance of this distinctive work in the best of the romantic tradition.

Contrasting with this was the contemporary and charmingly piquant Quartet No. 1, opus 40 of Dimitri Shostakovich. The allegro molto was enchanting and rhythmically stirring, though played in almost muted tones.

Second to none in the Bay Area is the Marin Youth Orchestra. Somehow Hugo Rinaldi every year manages to train members so that it hardly seems possible it is composed of teen-agers.

The full orchestral palette was explored with exuberance by the full ensemble of some 60 young people in Rimsky-Korsakov's "Capriccio Espagnol" and the finale from the First Symphony of Heinkki Suolahti.

Of Exceptional interest was the first appearance of the young Workshop for Strings players. Supported by the youth orchestra string section in Mozart's "Sinfonietta in D Major," they proved they are receiving excellent training under Robert Jackson.

A large part of the enjoyment of the event was due to the young soloists. Innately musical, pianist Claudia Jacobs gave a sharp and rhythmically exciting performance of the first movement of Kabalevsky's "Concerto No. 3 for Piano and Orchestra." Particularly after he gained full assurance in "Ungarische Rhapsodie," by David Popper, cellist John McKinnon played with much technical dexterity and warmth of tone.

In Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 4, flutists David Wilkinson and Kathy Scott and violinist Kathleen Baird played beautifully.

Marin Boys Catch 3-Foot Leopard Shark

A three-foot leopard shark was caught Saturday about 3 p.m. by two 13-year-olds in Corte Madera Creek at its intersection with Highway 101.

The young anglers, John Blake of Corte Lodato, Greenbrae, and Brent Twoomey of 51 Via Navarro, Greenbrae students at Kent School, used sardines as bait and had been fishing only half an hour when they brought in their surprise catch.

Astronauts Picked For First Manned Space Trip

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were selected today as the astronauts who will pilot the nation's first two-man space flight—a three-orbit Gemini mission late this year.

The back-up crew for the first manned flight of Project Gemini will be Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Capt. Thomas P. Stafford.

Gemini is the intermediate phase of the long-range training program that has an objective of placing Project Apollo astronauts on the moon within the decade.

Of the four men selected today at the Manned Spacecraft Center, the training base for astronauts, only Schirra has made an orbital flight.

Grissom made a suborbital flight of 142.1 miles downrange from Cape Kennedy Sept. 13, 1961, and Schirra followed with a six-orbit mission Oct. 3, 1962.

Young and Stafford, former test pilots, became astronaut trainees Sept. 17, 1962.

Since the completion of the one-man Mercury flights last year, Grissom has held a primary assignment as coordinator of Gemini affairs with other members of the astronaut team that now totals 29 pilots.

Schirra, now 41, is the oldest of the original seven Mercury astronauts now that Lt. Col. John Glenn has resigned from the program. Glenn is 42.

Schirra, while concentrating on the Gemini program, has been a coordinator of operations and training.

Young has specialized on the design and development of environmental control systems, survival gear, pressure suits, couches and other personal equipment. Stafford has specialized on communications, in strumentation and range integration.

The flight will be the first American manned effort since Maj. Gordon Cooper orbited the earth 22 times in a Mercury capsule May 15, 1963.

The Gemini program is a bridge between Mercury and the Apollo moon landing project. It was announced Dec. 17, 1961, as a plan to extend the Mercury program with the development of a two-man spacecraft.

Prime objectives of Gemini are to determine man's ability to function for long periods in space and the feasibility of rendezvous and docking in orbital flights.

Goshen Write-In For Sausalito

Robert Goshen, 47, former Sausalito city councilman and mayor, announced today he will be a write-in candidate for the Sausalito council in tomorrow's election.

He made his decision Friday, he said, "when I read the election material mailed to respective households." He said he referred to all materials, but that which he received from the Sausalito Citizens Council "touched the match."

Goshen said "very little has been done downtown in a constructive way over quite a period of time now. We have had a flagrant spending of money for various and sundry things without much result to the citizenry, which I think should be stopped."

"I feel," he continued, "the council-manager form of government is very sound but it should be put back where the council is still the major governing body and the manager is the worker for them. That relationship, I think, has strayed.

"I would like to see the city government run like a business . . . it's one planner after another being hired and they (the council) don't say 'yes' or 'no' to a plan."

Goshen said he is not sponsored by any group and made the decision on his own.

Goshen and his wife, Elizabeth, and two children, Susan and Timothy, live at 5 Monte Mar Drive. He was on the city council from 1954 through 1957, being mayor in 1956 and 1957, he said.

Redding Man Hurt As Car Overturns

Charles R. Marlow III, 28, of Redding was in fair condition today at San Rafael General Hospital with broken ribs after the car in which he was riding overturned on Highway 101, just south of the entrance to Hamilton Air Force Base, yesterday at 9:50 a.m.

Charles Marlow was a passenger in a southbound car driven by Gary Lynn Marlow, 19, of Santa Rosa.

'Pine Box' Comment Denied

Dick Harris of Goodman Builders Supply in Alto said today he had never made the statement, "They would have to take me along with them in a pine box" regarding annexation of the company's property in Mill Valley.

Harris said his only statement regarding the proposed annexation was, "I'd like to know what the advantages are before I would consider annexation."

The "pine box" remark was attributed to him in a story in the Independent-Journal on Friday. Reporter Bruce Coleman said he took the statement by telephone from a man he assumed to be Harris.

More Sit-Ins Slated After Arrest Of 226

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three sessions of peaceful picketing and then another Saturday of boisterous, arrest-provoking sit-in demonstrations are the prospect facing San Francisco's auto row unless an agreement on minority hiring is reached within the week.

Dr. Thomas Burbridge, president of San Francisco's chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, announced that strategy yesterday, only hours after 226 demonstrators had been bailed out of city jail.

They were arrested Saturday at three auto dealerships-representing General Motors, Ford and Chrysler Corp.—in the biggest-yet civil rights disturbance in San Francisco. Charges included unlawful assembly, refusal to disperse, trespassing and disturbing the peace.

The demonstrators, including red-bearded actor Sterling Hayden of Belvedere, claim the auto companies discriminate in hiring, a charge which is denied.

(Two other Marinites besides Hayden were arrested in the demonstration: Mrs. Vincent Hallinan, wife of the famed attorney, also of Belvedere, and Creighton Wyatt, 18-year-old student of Sausalito. Four—also were among those arrested; they all reside in San Francisco.)

Nationally, the NAACP is preparing a protest movement against General Motors. The San Francisco demonstration, said Burbridge, began coincidentally to the national move, but has become a part of the broader program because "when we discovered both of us (local and national officials) had lighted the bulb at the same time, we figured, "why not get together?"

Other companies are included in San Francisco because, said Burbridge, "we are dealing with the Motor Car Dealers Assn. . . We can haggle with the others at the same time."

Burbridge said no negotation date has been set with the car group. "We are not in the position of approaching them and possibly they are in the same position," he said. "My guess is that the mayor's commission on human rights will approach both of us.

"We are willing to accept a face-to-face negotiation or mediation by the mayor's interim committee.'

Burbridge said pickets would demonstrate today, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, with sitins planned for Saturday if no agreement is reached.

Most persons arrested Saturday—the vast majority of them white—were carried limp from auto showrooms. Some left when police began the arrests. Part of Van Ness Avenue was blocked most of the afternoon as paddy wagons ferried back and forth to jail.

The 226 arrested were freed on $76 bail, each, to appear today in municipal court.

Burbridge said civil rights groups want auto agencies to guarantee that Negroes, Orientals or Mexican-Americans make up from 16 to 30 per cent of those hired.

Californian Opposes Water Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A California official, testifying at a Senate hearing today on behalf of Gov. Edmund G. Brown of the Central Arizona Project as a separate undertaking. He urged that the project be incorporated into a regional water plan.

Hugo Fisher, administrator of the California Resources Agency not only opposed a Central Arizona bill but also an amendment proposed by Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) for protection of California interests.

Stanley Mosk, California attorney general, endorsed the Kuchel amendment when he testified Saturday before the Senate reclamation subcommittee. But Fisher said it was only an indirect approach to a basin-wide plan for the lower Colorado River.

"I don't think it is the proper way to deal with the problem," he said under questioning by Kuchel at today's session.

Fisher said the Kuchel amendment, by providing water priority for existing projects in the basin, would be giving Arizonans their cake and then taking away a big slice of it—by authorizing big dams they want without the water guarantees.

In response to a question about California's attitude toward the specific draft of a Pacific Southwest area water bill submitted to the subcommittee last week by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, Fisher said:

"The state of California does not take a position on the draft bill."

Accompanying Fisher were William E. Warne, director of the California water resources department; and B. Abbott Goldbert, chief deputy director.

Castro Shunned U.S. Aid In 1960, Article Says

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States tried to offer aid and cooperation to Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime just before he turned to the Soviet Union in 1960, a scholar of Cuban affairs reported today.

Castro seemed interested in Castro seemed interested in the offer at first, but then rebuffed it and went into negotiations with Anastas I. Mikoyan, a Soviet first deputy premier, it was said.

The information, said to be still secret, is contained in an article by Theodore Draper in today's issue of the "New Leader," a liberal biweekly of news and opinion.

Draper has done research on Cuban-American relations for Harvard and Columbia universities.

In the magazine article, Draper offers a rebuttal to comments on Cuba made by Sen. J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.) in his March 25 speech on "Old Myths and New Realities."

Draper reports that Havana began a "search for offers" to displace the United States in the Cuban market. The search wound up in the economic agreement with Mikoyan, signed on Feb. 13, 1960, he said.

Fulbright, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had said the administration's attempt to organize a boycott of Cuba had failed.

Draper defends the attempt to injure Cuba's economy and says Fulbright "could not have chosen a more unfortunate moment" to give the Cuban government a psychological lift.

Lid On Disaster News Admitted

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The assistant director of the California disaster office has confirmed he issued a memo to regional administrators directing that statements to the press in their areas concerning federal programs should be cleared first with headquarters in Sacramento.

Ralph W. Hilton, assistant CDO director for administration, was asked if this was an attempt to control news flowing out of the regional office.

"That's not exactly what we had in mind," Hilton said. "We want them to clear with us the press statements they put out that have to do with federal programs.

"We have a number of programs relating to federal agencies and sometimes the regional offices receive advance information that is not too clear," he said. "We have asked them to clear with us on program material."

Hilton said most of the programs for the CDO deal with the federal government in one way or another, usually on a matching-fund basis. For the past couple of years, in fact, salaries of most of the CDO employees are paid on a matching-fund basis.

One regional administrator said he had received the memorandum from headquarters but felt it was somewhat ambiguous and wasn't sure just how to operate under it.

Disclosure of the CDO news channeling memo come only several days after it was learned Dr. Max Rafferty issued a directive to professional personnel in the department of education, requiring clearance by his office of stories on education. Rafferty said the purpose of the memo was to assure that stories on public education were "accurate, complete and in good form."

At the time, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his press staff said they knew of no such practices being carried on under any of the departments under the governor's jurisdiction.

Lodge To Swamp Rivals In Oregon, Poll Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Newsweek magazine said today a poll it had taken in Oregon by the Lou Harris organization indicates that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will score a far greater victory there than in the New Hampshire presidential primary.

The magazine said the poll shows that Lodge currently has almost half of Oregon's Republican votes against a combined field of five rivals.

Some Water Shortages Are Seen In State

SACRAMENTO (CNS) —Water conditions in California remain unfavorable and areas without the service of sufficient conservation facilities to meet late season irrigation demands will suffer some shortages.

That was the report of the department of water resources, based on April 1 conditions.

The news from the U. S. Bureau of reclamation, concern-reservoirs in the central valley projects, said carryover storage of most bureau dams will make it possible for all central valley service areas to receive their fully committed supplies of water.

William E. Warne, director of the state department of water resources, said March precipitation was about 70 per cent of average, ranging from a high of 90 per cent in the San Joaquin valley to a low of 25 per cent in the Colorado desert area.

"Following three other below normal months, a period climaxed by a record-breaking dry February, a continuation of below average precipitation through March leaves little possibility for the present water picture to change materially," Warne said. "This is emphasized now, with only one month of the major precipitation season now remaining.

Voters Should 'Do Their Part' At Polls Tomorrow

Tomorrow is election day in nine of Marin's 10 cities. City councilmen will be chosen by voters in each of Marin's municipalities except San Rafael where the ancient city charter provides for elections in odd-numbered years instead of even-numbered ones.

Over the past couple of weeks, the I-J has published pictures and biographical data about the candidates, together with statements of their respective views on matters of concern in their cities.

Information on various bond issues and other propositions to be voted on in some cities and school districts also has been covered rather thoroughly in the I-J as the elections approached.

We sincerely hope that readers paid close attention to our reports so that they can vote intelligently tomorrow.

Now we strongly urge these readers to vote tomorrow, to cast informed ballots.

Only on rare occasions does the I-J endorse candidates in municipal elections. Endorsements are made only when there is some overwhelming, transcendent circumstance that requires taking sides, when things are almost completely "all black or all white." This kind of situation did not seem to be present this year.

So in this election, as in most city elections over the years, we made no endorsements.

But we have endeavored to present the candidates, their stands and the pros and cons on the issues before the voters, leaving it to the electorate to choose which men they want as their representatives and whether they wish to accept (and pay for) the propositions on the ballot, or reject them.

As we say, we feel we have done our part in making the necessary information available to our readers.

Now we hope our readers in these nine cities do their part tomorrow: go to the polls and cast intelligent votes.

Big Beds And Greenhouses

The newest status symbols in suburbia, we are told, are king-size beds and private greenhouses. Marin has its fair share of both.

The newer, bigger beds range up to seven by seven feet square and are presumably made for restless giants who twist and turn a lot in their sleep. If the present trend continues, bedrooms will be all bed and couples will say goodnight by telephone.

If you don't have your own greenhouse these days, you just aren't in the swing of things. A gardener without orchids is a nothing. Tomatoes in January are a social must. Kidding aside though, a greenhouse would be great fun.

However, the king-size bed and the greenhouse will probably remain pleasant dreams for all but the most affluent Marinites. Reinforced by a good night's sleep on a regular bed and nourished by store bought vegetables, we will manage to conceal our envy of their fortunate owners, confident that they will soon go the way of too-expensive cars and swimming pools as status symbols.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

Reporter Invited To John Birch Society Session With Conditions

By WAT TAKESHITA

(First of two articles)

TAKESHITA

THE JOHN BIRCH Society is apparently taking some of the lid off its secrecy—not all, but some.

In the past, the group has "spoken" on the national level by sending news releases to national news agencies. Just recently, the society began designating "local spokesmen" to issue statements on the county level.

W. Garry Woodward, 37, of Larkspur, spokesman for Marin, explained that news releases on the national level were not getting coverage in the press. Thus, the change in policy to use local spokesmen.

JUST A WEEK AGO, a meeting of the John Birch Society was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Woodward. Attendance is by invitation, and we were invited as a representative of the press, but on the condition that names of individuals attending would not be used, unless they want to be identified.

"We believe in the idea of individual responsibility," explained Woodward. "If a person does not want it known that he is a member, then it's his business."

ABOUT 20 persons gathered at the home that night. They ranged from youths in their teens to men and women in their 60s. There were about three or four youths from the College of Marin, who appeared to be there more from curiosity and the chance to argue their theories than from anything else.

The meeting opens with the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag, which stands in the living room.

HUGH C. FINE of San Jose, Northern California coordinator for the Birch Society, outlines the society's goals and the method of operation. Then follows a question-and-answer period, when newcomers have a chance to quiz the speaker, and established members have a chance to assess the newcomer to see if he would make a good member.

Before the close of the meeting, Fine invites newcomers to sign an application for membership, stressing that membership is entirely voluntary, and those not convinced should study literature recommended by the Birch Society before they make the decision.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP is $1,000. If you want to pay annually, it will cost $24 per year for men and $12 per year for women.

The society may deny membership or revoke membership at any time, "by a duly appointed officer of the Society, without the reason being stated," according to the membership application blank.

(Some of the views of the Birch Society, and its method of operation will be discussed in the next column, tomorrow.)

United Nations Not Run By Communists

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to comment on W. G. Woodward's recent letter to the I-J. In it he supports Dr. Ward's statement that we must rely on the U. S. Congress, not the U. N., that our concern with external affairs endangers our internal freedoms.

I wish some member of the John Birch Society would point out, rationally, just how the purposes of the U. N. are opposed to the purposes of the U. S. I cannot recall one instance in which the U. S. has lost in the U. N. on a major issue vital to our national interest or security. I happen to believe in the U. S. Congress and the U. N., and I don't feel that "patriotism" is a dirty word. If I were to believe Mr. Woodward or Dr. Ward, this is an impossible situation.

The only possible explanation I have heard of the Birch stand is their claim that the U. N. is run by Communists. The I-J, on Jan. 27, printed a long letter from Mr. Woodward to this effect, but his arguments did not stand up to scrutiny. He again offers as proof of his notion that the U. N. is Communist-run the statement that the U. N. stood "idly by" while communism gobbled up Poland, Rumania, East Germany, Bulgaria, Hungary, China, Tibet.

First, let me point out that no one has ever imagined that the U. N. could impose its will on the Soviet Union (or any of the big powers) in an issue which it felt vitally affected its national security and interests. The U. N. did not have the power to free the Hungarians. But the U. N. was not idle. It did what it could and the action it took was carried out under strong Communist opposition. During the Hungarian uprising the U. N., under strong protest from the Soviet Union, repeatedly sent observers and a special committee to Hungary, where they were stopped. Under intense Soviet opposition the U. N. passed a resolution finding the Soviet Union in violation of the charter in depriving Hungary of its liberty. This resolution was reaffirmed in December, 1962. Resolutions were passed indicting the aggressor in Korea and Tibet, again under opposition from the Soviet bloc. In short, anti-Communist sentiment in the U. N. overrode the Communists, demonstrating the Birch claim to be false.

No one, not the most ardent supporter of the U. N., has ever claimed that it could solve all the problems of the world. The true issue is not whether it has solved every problem, but whether we are on the whole better off than we would be without it. On a number of occasions the U. N. has settled disputes and thus prevented direct military confrontation between big powers. Such confrontation could hardly have been prevented from leading to large-scale war. I am referring to the Congo, the Suez crisis, Korea, Israel - Egypt border disputes. The prevention of large-scale war is reason enough for the existence of the U. N. The Korean and Congo operations were carried out, I might add, under strong opposition from the Communist bloc. How so, if the U. N. were Communist-run?

We can no longer guarantee, through military strength alone, that our own freedoms are safe. Military invincibility no longer exists. So our freedoms cannot last indefinitely unless most of the world believes in that freedom also; the U. N. provides us with an instrument to work for this belief. In today's contracted world, internal and external affairs are inseparable. To attempt to ignore either is madness. To attempt to oppose the two is ignorance; and to deny their relationship is to play the ostrich.

If you wish to keep the word "patriotism" clean, Mr. Woodward, don't use it to shovel dirt on the "internationalists." Your cry of "un-American" applied to involvement abroad is, of course, not patriotism at all. It points the surest path to destruction.

Ex-Mayor Huber Is Given Praise

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Refering to the letter of Vincent H. South, appearing in the I-J of April 2. Or is it a form letter, as the same letter appeared in another Marin County paper under a different signature? Mr. South praises former Mayor Huber for the good job he did while in office and for doing it with a smile and a gentlemanly approach, and that was why Mill Valley was nationally appreciated for its friendliness. Mr. South is correct in this statement, because Bob Huber, as mayor, saw that there was harmony and good public relations between the city council and the citizens of Mill Valley due to his good leadership and real inspiration.

Mr. South now states that for the past eight months, Mr. Huber has ranted and insulted the present mayor and the entire council. Mr. South is mistaken in what he is now saying about our former mayor. Mr. Huber, although a very busy man, has taken time out and joined up with other citizens of Mill Valley to try to get the present city council to carry out our city manager form of government. Also, to try and stop the bad publicity we are now getting on account of secret meetings held in San Francisco by the Mill Valley council, which, I understand, are still on the grand jury agenda for investigation.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Colonel William Cody made a contract with the Kansas Pacific Railroad in 1867 to supply their laborers with as much buffalo meat as they could possibly eat, and found himself a nickname — "Buffalo Bill"—by which he will long be remembered. He promptly organized a Wild West show and toured in triumph all the way from Omaha, Neb., to Paris, France.

To please the kids at the first matinee Buffalo Bill's Wild West show played in New York, he announced that he was going to give as a door prize a full set of cowboy regalia to a boy who held the lucky ticket. By an amazing coincidence, the winner turned out to be the son of the general manager of the show. More miraculous still, that same kid had the winning number three more times in succession. The event had to be abandoned, however, when the ungrateful recipient of the equipment refused to give it back and won permanent possession by threatening to snitch to the newspapers.

Minneapolis sage "Mox" Lindquist met an old friend who had taken up story writing as a career. "Have you sold anything yet?" asked Mox. "Yes," nodded his friend. "My dress suit, some furniture, and my watch."

Opinion Held That Moscow-Peking Clash Is Genuine Strife For Power

WASHINGTON— There is no event anywhere on the horizon which deserves to be followed more closely than the vitriolic clash between Red China and the Soviet Union.

This struggle for primacy between the two Communist capitols—whose relations are now at the point of explosion —can do more than anything else to shape our world during the rest of the twentieth century.

As we await the climax of this strife between Peking and Moscow, which Premier Nikita Krushchev promises at an early summit meeting of the world's Communist parties, there are three questions which need to be answered.

QUESTION—Is it a hoax, is it a trap? Are Krushchev and Mao Tse-tung putting on a planned charade to trick the West into letting down its guard, a charade which will be called off after it has done its work?

ANSWER— It is my own conviction that the feud between Peking and Moscow has already reached the point of no return.

There's a reason why this is no hoax, no trick to fool the West. If this intra-Communist fight were primarily ideological I wouldn't believe it as far as I could throw Lenin's tomb.

But the bitter clash between Peking and Moscow, which has been going on under the surface since 1959 and above the ground since last summer, reflects a deep conflict of national interests.

The breach broke into the open with the abrupt end of all Soviet economic, technical and military assistance to Red China, including an implacable refusal to help it get the bomb. The Kremlin saw Red China as a dangerous neighbor and competitor.

QUESTION—What will be the consequences of a Peking-Moscow break?

ANSWER — These consequences:

1. A weakening of the world Communist movement, because it will be torn apart by divided loyalties.

2. A muting, at least for a period, of the cold war in Western Europe and wherever Moscow is its principal instrument since the Kremlin cannot risk conducting a violent cold war on two fronts.

3. More militant and riskful ventures by Red China in Asia.

QUESTION— What should the U. S. be doing?

ANSWER—First, the Soviet Union needs more than ever the support of its Eastern European satellites in the contest with Peking. It can get that support best by granting increasing freedom and flexibility to the Eastern European countries. The U. S., I think, should do everything possible to help these countries become less dependent economically on the Soviets. That means mutually advantageous increased trade.

Secondly, we need to do everything necessary to win the war against the Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam to prevent the drive of Red China to dominate Southeast Asia.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Foundations Don't Account For Wealth

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — While millions of taxpayers are unhappily wrestling with income returns which must be filed by Wednesday, one exceedingly well-heeled group is quite relaxed about this annual ordeal.

Thousands of tax-exempt foundations with billions in assets and hundreds of millions in income are under no official pressure to submit reports.

Under the law they must do so. The penalties for disregarding this requirement are the same for both individual taxpayers and foundations — fines up to $10,000 and jail terms.

The big difference is the way the Revenue Service treats the taxpayer and the multi-billion-dollar foundations who pay no taxes.

THE ERRANT taxpayer gets clobbered. The foundations go scot-free.

The Revenue Service now has every taxpayer carefully numbered and tabulated. Giant computers maintain a minute record on whether returns are filed.

But there are no such tabulations on foundation returns —for the extraordinary reason that the Revenue Service does not know how many of these tax-exempt organizations there are.

The IRS has no idea whether there are 10,000, 100,000 or more.

Although the IRS creates these tax-exempt organizations, it's at a loss as to how many actually exist.

THIS ASTONISHING situation is not new.

In 1949, the Senate Commerce Committee, after an investigation of the "Textron trusts," reported being unable to get any concrete figures on tax-exempt foundations.

Six years later a House committee, headed by the late Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.), came to the same empty-handed conclusions. Its report complained sharply of being unable to obtain accurate information on the number of foundations, their assets, income, expenditures and other essential data.

Now, ten years later, Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.), chairman of the House Banking Committee, is caustically making the same charge.

THE SENATE Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va.), which writes the tax laws, has decided something should be done about "abuses by tax-exempt foundations."

The committee voted unanimously to direct the Treasury to "make a study of possible abuses of private foundations under the Internal Revenue laws and report back to the committee by the end of this year."

But the question is how far will it go in view of the fact that the Treasury knows very little about the foundations.

The Country Parson

"As our world continues to shrink, we're going to have to learn to get along better with folks we used to call foreigners."

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Edward L. Roddy of Ross, former U.S. collector of internal revenue, purchased the Town and Country Building at Fifth and Grant Avenues and a building at Second and Grant avenues in Novato from Maury Marowitz of San Rafael for about $50,000.

20 YEARS AGO

Prices of drinks across the bar would be raised by one to four cents on April 1, the Office of Price Administration announced.

Edith Waterman, chairman of the Marin County chapter of the Red Cross, urged the San Rafael Board of Education to build a swimming pool at San Rafael High School.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Reporter Views World Of Political Animal As Seen In Southern Marin

THE QUIET LITTLE village with the tall trees and the short tongues is all agog.

Politics, that which Will Rogers once called "apple sauce," is lurking behind every redwood.

"I love apple sauce," says contractor Don Stevens, discussing the movement of it with a friend on Throckmorton Avenue. "But," he cautioned, "don't quote me. . . . You can use my picture though."

This is an oddity in politics since most people want to be quoted and photographed.

Language is apt to be more graphic in politics. For example, Brunhilde Leibes at the bus depot where the people come and go finds Mill Valley politics simply, "Dirty."

IN POLITICS iron men such as Manuel Gomez melt into butter before women such as Georgia Barnes, the devastating moderator from Belvedere at the League of Women Voters' candidate's night.

Trimming Manny's speeches to the bone, Mrs. Barnes said coldly: "What is the question?" When Mrs. Barnes was closing the meeting, Gomez continued to question the proposed annexation. Mrs. Barnes won.

Undaunted, one day later, Manny reported he will not retire. "Politics is our way of life. Politics is good. When else can you express yourself?"

Some towns seem to have more apple sauce than others. Sausalito has nine council candidates, with an innkeeper having dropped out, and two measures. Mill Valley has eight candidates, had 86 absentee ballots to San Anselmo's six. Belvedere has six candidates.

TIBURON, UNABLE to vote for councilmen until June 2, has at this sitting 13 to 19 candidates. How can you beat that for spirit? Five into 19 makes three full councils plus four councilmen left over who might be used for a tree or architectural advisory committee.

Halls were jammed, with people standing in lobbies, at candidates' nights at Sausalito and Mill Valley.

The wonderful world of politics in Sausalito has the Cozy Cafe, three doors from city hall, as one of its sounding posts. This is where top-level town matters are discussed in short, positive sentences. Ruby Cullinan, who runs the 10-stool, railroad-type cafe where you can tell the day by the soup, is now in room 336, bed two, at Marin General. But she'll be back making soup soon and her latest report is "things are relatively quiet now. Things seem to be all underground."

WHEN SPIRITS run high, people begin to see national political figures in local frames and faces. For example, Lucretia Little has tabbed Paul Peterzell, journalist on Mill Valley's Fleet Street, as "the Pierre Salinger of Mill Valley."

The art of apple sauce-ing attracts strange table fellows. Windows at the florist shop and laundries have been ever changing with political posters going up, coming down, and, alas, completely disappearing. It is mysterious. It is amusing. It is politics.

At the good laundry where we take our shirts we asked Mrs. Al Baudour how she felt the campaign was going.

SHE SHRUGGED, said she didn't really know but that the laundry had been beseiged by people pasting and pinning up candidates' posters and cards.

First, she said, we were urged to take two candidates' cards out of the window. We took them out and then got pressure to put them back in. We did. "If anyone else complains," said Mrs. Baudour, "we're going to throw them all out."

Politics is good. And it is great to live in a town where so many people can become so vocal and so active in promoting "our way of life."

ART BUCHWALD

Well, It Looks Like McCormack May Be Heading Demo's Ticket

WASHINGTON— President Lyndon B. Johnson's driving has become of some concern to the free world. Reporters down at the LBJ Ranch for the Easter weekend said the president drove his Lincoln Continental as speeds up to 85 or 90 miles an hour, passed other cars on the hills, and frightened many members of the official entourage.

The president's press secretary, George Reedy, was surprised at the roports and said he had never known the president to exceed the Texas speed limits. The president himself, at a press conference, denied driving too fast and couldn't recall ever going over 70.

BUT THE AMERICAN people had one more thing to worry about when they read the stories. We don't know if they were true or not as we weren't there, but two White House correspondents who were following the president's car insist the stories were correct.

"I distinctly remember," one of them said, "as the speedometer climbed to 80, turning to someone in the car and saying, 'I don't care what you say, I think Speaker McCormack would make a good president."

"I heard him," the other correspondent replied, "and I said, 'You may be right. After all, the job makes the man. There has been too much criticism of the speaker."

"Then our speedometer hit 85 and I said, 'If nothing else, people will take pity on us if McCormack is president. Everyone will feel sorry for us."

THE OTHER correspondent said, "I'm not worried about McCormack, but do you think Carl Hayden could do the job?"

"Why, does McCormack drive?"

"I don't think so. Anyway, the traffic laws in Massachusetts are much stricter."

"Then what are you worried about?"

The speedometer rose to 90 miles an hour. The second correspondent said, "McCormack has very good connections in Congress. He could get the pending legislation through."

"And as far as foreign affairs are concerned, Dean Rusk would certainly stay on."

"I'm sure the entire cabinet would stay."

"IT WOULD be foolilsh for McCormack to form a new Cabinet so near elections."

The president's car neared the crest of a hill and the president pulled out to pass a car. Just then a car came over the hill from another direction.

"Are you going to stay here or go back to Washington for the swearing-in ceremony?" the correspondent asked his friend.

"I don't know. I guess I'll have to call the office."

The other car saw the Continental coming at it and veered off to the shoulder of the road. President Johnson managed to get through.

First transcontinental Economy Run...3,243 grueling miles from Los Angeles to the New York World's Fair!

Mobil Economy Run results prove the mileage potential of Mobil gasoline in cars like yours

45 different American cars travel coast to coast in world's greatest road test of gasoline performance

The Mobil Economy Run uses cars like yours! Not "factory specials." The actual cars are picked at random by United States Auto Club officials from dealer showrooms and factory assembly lines throughout the country. USAC seals every vital part, then keeps the car under guard throughout the Run.

On roads like you drive

Not on a "test track," but on steep mountain roads, on long open spaces, in desert heat, driving rains, through the traffic of city after city—this is the route of the Mobil Economy Run. This year it stretched from coast to coast, 3,243 miles from Los Angeles to the New York World's Fair.

United States Auto Club supervised

The results are certified by the United States Auto Club. No special equipment is permitted... normal highway speeds are maintained... and every car must carry an official USAC observer at all times. But the outstanding results of this year's Economy Run demonstrate more than just the mileage potential for your car. Here's why:

Mileage is the measure of power!

The miles per gallon a gasoline gives, shows the power available for other uses—power for quick starts, fast pick-up for safety in passing, and for climbing hills. Mobil gasoline proves it has the power available for the all-round performance you want... proves it in public year after year. Try Mobil—the Economy Run Gasoline!

Wise Traders Know When To Use Stop Order

Psychology Of Stock Market Timing

(Sixth in a series)

Prudent trainmen and traders, who are aware of the dangers of rolling stock, always "Stop-Look-Listen" at critical crossings. By means of mechanical aids, they hope to preclude, or limit losses— thus assuring themselves of a clear track for intended future operations.

The "Stop" is a formula designed to protect paper profits in a lofty market, limit losses in a declining market or initiate trades at crucial market levels. Sometimes known as the trader's Mae West," it works best in a market which may be too high, but might bloom further upside.

Any order demanding an execution at a specified price whenever a round-lot sale of the same stock duplicates that price, is a Stop Order. If a trader buys 100 shares of U. S. Steel at 48 and wishes to limit his loss to about two points in the event of a reaction, he will enter an order to "Sell 100 Steel at 46, Stop."

This means that whenever 100 shares of U. S. Steel sell at 46, the Stop will become effective automatically and the broker will try to execute at 46, the Stop price.

It is possible, however, that only 100 shares will sell at 46, and the next bid is ¼ point, or more, below that level. Unless the original order set a specific limit of 46 ("Sell 100 Steel at 46, Stop Limit") the broker will offer 100 Steel for sale "at the market," with no guarantee of an execution at 46.

Stop Orders should parallel the market the way Stop signs parallel the tracks. If the stock soars after entering a Stop, cancel and re-enter the order at a price high enough to accommodate the scope and tempo of the rise. But set the price far enough below the prevailing level, so that only a serious drop, or a change in the market's trend, will touch it off.

Canceling a Stop entirely, or lowering it as the stock nears a trading point, can be fatal in a fast sliding market. Born of hope that stocks will boom again, or fear of being "stopped out" at the bottom, this practice stems also from human weakness and snubs the very protection that Stops are supposed to provide.

Anyone buying a stock that it will probably dip below his original purchase price. If he catches the exact low, he should not confuse this good fortune with financial acumen. The trader who can recognize values and will agree with Jacob H. Schiff—"I never want to sell stocks near the top, nor buy them at the bottom" — should consider the merits of Scale Orders.

This method involves buying and selling additional shares of a stock at fixed intervals and to a prescribed point above or below the level of the initial commitment.

If a trader has a profit on 1,000 shares of stock in a market which he considers to be too high, but which might still advance some more, he may enter an order to sell his 1,000 shares on a ½ point scale up from 50, let us say.

The operation will involve ten separate sell orders of 100 shares each, beginning with 50 and continuing at ¼ point intervals to 52¼. Conversely, the purchase of 1,000 shares on a similar scale would start at 50 and continue to 47¾. The principle is that, after the last 100 shares has been bought, a 50 per cent recovery of the decline from 50 would leave the trader long of 1,000 shares at 48⅞, without a loss. The price interval between purchases, or sales, and the point to which further commitments should be extended are problems for individual decision.

Scale Orders assist accumulation in a buil market distribution in a top-heavy market and short selling in a bear market. The plan is helpful primarily to operators who know the approximate value of the stock in which they intend to deal. Buying additional shares or averaging down in a poorly situated stock is not intelligent speculation, but only gambling to satisfy vanity!

The Scale Order is more fluid than the Stop, and it is a valuable addition to the "pistol pocket" of any trader. But it should only be used intelligently and in conjunction with other known market factors.

TAX FACTS

You Can Request More Time

By P. J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

If for some reason beyond your control it is impossible for you to file your federal and California income tax returns by midnight, Wednesday, April 15, 1964, then you should request an extension of time. Extensions are usually granted, for good reason, for a 65-day period.

P. J. Wikel

Requests for extensions of time should be in triplicate and signed by you or your agent.

Forms are available at your local office of the Internal Revenue Service and Franchise Tax Board. All requests for extension should be on these forms and three copies are necessary. However, if you are unable to secure the forms, a letter will do.

Your application should clearly set forth the full cause of the delay and the probable time that you will be able to complete your return.

It should give your full name, address, and Social Security number as it will appear on your tax return when you do file.

Extension are usually granted for a good reason, such as illness, accidents, etc. Extensions are never granted because you are unable to pay the tax. If you cannot pay the tax due, file your return anyway. You will get a bill and you will have to pay it sooner or later. You will be charged interest, but there will be no penalty. If you do not file your return on time, you will be subjected to severe penalties.

So, either file the return or apply for an extension.

Selected Issues Mark Active, Mixed Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed mixed today with selected issues strong. Trading was moderately active.

Chrysler was bought heavily in the afternoon and advanced a point or more.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.4 million shares compared with 5.01 million Friday.

Gains and losses of key stocks ranged from fractions to about a point.

Chrysler was up about a point in a wave of buying which brokers linked to expectations of increased earnings and a possible dividend hike. Other auto stocks did little.

Sperry Rand, off a fraction, was running ahead of volume dume to a big block of 66,000 shares. Transitron continued heavily traded made another big percentage gain as this low-priced stock climbed nearly a point.

Airlines were subjected to further profit taking.

U. S. Industrials lost nearly 2 as a revised financial report for the year showed a loss instead of a gain.

Lukens Steel lost a couple of points of recent gains. Rails were irregularly higher.

Also up about a point were Eastman Kodak, Liggett & Myers and Reynolds Tobacco.

Prices were mixed on the American Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U. S. government bonds continued to decline.

Average Retail Store Is Bigger

NEW YORK (UPI) — The average retail store is getting bigger and more crowded. A record number of American consumers can now choose from among 1,857,280 (m) retail outlets—the most ever—according to the 10th annual retail census of the Audits and Surveys Company, marketing research firm.

While retail stores increased by less than 1 per cent in 1963, sales rose about 5 per cent and population increased almost 4 per cent.

The trend is toward larger stores. Audits and Surrveys reports, but fewer outlets in relation to population. There now is one store for every 102 persons. In 1962, the ratio was one store per 100, and it was one for every 96 in 1958.

Insurance Agent Announces Policy For Persons Who Don't Smoke

Practically on the heels of the Independent-Journal editorial last Wednesday on smoking and life insurance, comes now an announcement from Wachsman-Nixon Co. of San Rafael, local agent for State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America, Worcester, Mass., that this company started this month issuing a "Preferred Protector" policy for applicants who have not smoked cigarettes for at least a year. (Pipe and cigar smokers are elegible for coverage).

State Mutual, rated as fifth oldest life insurance company in the United States and 26th largest among more than 1,500 legal reserve companies, describes its coverage as a "permanent, whole life dividend paying policy with cash values and low net cost." Savings for non-smokers are said to vary according to age. A male, non-smoker, 35, might save $6 a year from the usual premium on $10,000 (minimum coverage); a 50-year-old could save twice as much in his premium bracket.

Edward Wachsman tells me the first non-smoker's policy in California has just been issued by State Mutual to Milton C. Woods of Ross—a man who never picked up the smoking habit.

SPEAKING OF INSURANCE, Western 65 Health Insurance Assn. has extended its initial enrollment period for Californians 65 and over to go through the month of April.

MRS. DORIS G. REED of Terra Linda (formerly of Corte Madera) has been advanced to assistant cashier in the industrial department at Wells Fargo Bank's San Francisco headquarters. She has been with the bank since 1945. Her work deals with commercial loan collections and legal matters.

MRS. BETTY WEIR of Mill Valley is the winner of a magnum of champagne awarded for her work on a tile shower. Tile was purchased through Tile Sales Co., San Rafael. Pacific Tile and Porcelain Co. made the award.

we have a lower life insurance rate for non-smokers

We've lowered the rate on our popular Preferred Protector plan for men and women who haven't smoked a cigarette for at least one year.

We studied the Surgeon General's Report with great care. In our opinion the non-cigarette smoker is a better life insurance risk. He's entitled to a better rate. So we've given it to him. (Pipe-smokers and cigar-smokers are also eligible for the lower premium.)

If you have any questions, call us, or write for our booklet, "A Message of Interest to Non-Smokers." It explains fully our non-smoker plan. You might take a look at the Surgeon General's Report, too.

Play Ball! Giants Launch Schedule Tomorrow

The San Francisco Giants, fresh from their most successful spring exhibition season in years, open the 1964 National League pennant chase tomorrow at Candlestick Park against the Milwaukee Braves.

Juan Marichal, the high-kicking 25-game winner of 1963, will pitch for San Francisco against ageless Milwaukee lefthander Warren Spahn.

A sellout crowd of about 43,000 is expected for the frist of 162 regular season games starting at 1 p.m.

The Giants, pennant winners in 1962, finished a distant third to the Los Angeles Dodgers and runner-up St. Louis Cardinals last year. Trades and the emergence of rookies are the two factors being counted on by San Franisco to regain preeminence this season.

Key to the club's chances this year, Manager Alvin Dark readily admits, is the performance of two rookies who will be in the starting lineup.

Jesus Alou is counted on to fill the gap in right field left by the trade of his brother, Felipe, to the Braves for veteran pitchers Bob Shaw and Bob Hendley and catcher Del Crandell.

Jim Ray Hart must fill the bill at third base if Dark's plan to shift Jimmy Davenport to second is to be successful.

On the basis of their spring showings, both Alou and Hart appear ready for their big tests. Both rookies hit near the .400 mark during the exhibition season and both proved adequate in the field.

Normally, such averages by rookies would be the big news from spring training camp. But their performances have been overshadowed, at least in part, by the batting splurges of nearly every Giant veteran.

Centerfielder Willie Mays has shown he's ready to earn his $105,000 salary—highest in the league—by battering spring opposition for a better than .400 average.

Left fielder Willie McCovey, whose 44 home runs last season tied him for the league title with Hank Aaron, also enjoyed a fine spring.

Topping them all, however, was first baseman Orlando Cepeda, the spring leader in batting average, home runs and runs batted in.

Only one fact mars the Giants' otherwise happy spring—their 26-6 exhibition record was recorded largely against the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox, so-so American League entries who won't be around the National loop during the regular season.

Cleveland in particular proved no match for the Giants. Their 7-6 loss to San Francisco yesterday was their 13th in 14 spring outings. No. 13 was at least close as the winning run scored in the ninth on Cap Peterson's pinch double.

In their final tune-up today, the Giants played the Santa Clara University Broncos.

WERNER KILLED

Warning Ignored By Movie Makers

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Swiss investigators said today that apparent "gross negligence" caused an Alpine avalanche that killed star U. S. Olympic skier Wallace (Bud) Werner and a German girl Olympic ski champion yesterday while they were making a movie.

The district attorney's office said manslaughter by negligence charges may be filed.

Two representatives of the U. S. Ski Assn. arrived here today to claim the body of Werner, 29, of Steamboat Springs, Colo., who had retired from the breakneck competition of ski racing only last month.

Werner and Miss Barbara-Marie Henneberger, 23, were buried by a huge snow slide yesterday while they were making an action ski movies with a group of 12 other top skiers on an alpine slope near St. Moritz.

A spokesman at the district attorney's office at Samaden, a village near St. Moritz, said a preliminary public investigation indicated the accident appeared to have been due to "gross negligence." He said the movie group had ignored repeated warnings in starting work on a slope that had been delcared a danger zone and off limits to skiers.

The spokesman said proceedings will start tomorrow to determine whether charges of manslaughter by negligence will be brought against members of the film group.

DANGER WARNINGS

A preliminary investigation was carried out by the gendarme post at St. Moritz, the spokesman said. He said it showed that the group, in entering the dangerous zone, had passed three warning signs saying: "off limits," "danger" and "do not pass—stop."

Werner's wife, Vanda remained in Colorado. They have no children.

Miss Hennebarger won the Olympic bronze medal in the special slalom event in 1960 and held six German national titles.

The avalanche roared down yesterday as the hot Alpine sun made dozens of Swiss ski slopes dangerous. Four other persons were missing after the avalanches, which mountaineers call the "white death," thundered down in at least four areas.

Tars Drop Conference Twin Bill

College of Marin's baseball team took it on the chin twice Saturday in Marysville, losing both ends of a doubleheader to Yuba College, 7-2 and 9-0.

The twin loss evened the Mariners' record at 2-2 in Golden Valley Conference play.

Marin's hitting attack in the first game was led by centerfielder Chip Collins and second baseman Bob Scoville, each getting two singles in four trips to the plate. First baseman Fred Mack got the only other safety in Marin's total of five singles.

In that first game, a nine-inning affair, Tar hurler Bill Finn went all the way on the mound to suffer the defeat.

In the second game, two Marin pitchers gave up a total of 11 walks, allowing Yuba to score its 9 runs on only 5 hits. Marin starter and loser Skip Rush allowed six free bases in two and one-third innings, and Park Smith, in relief, allowed five more walks in his three and two-third innings on the hill.

REMARKABLE JOB

Smith did a remarkable bit of work as a fireman for the Tars. He was sent to the mound in the third inning with bases loaded and only one Yuba man down. He quickly put out the fire as the next Yuba batters made quick outs, one a ground out and the other a pop up.

Hap Curley's double in the second inning and singles by John Odetto, Al Finley and Scoville were the only hits by the Tars in the seven-inning nightcap.

Builders Top Merchants

Led by the slugging of Joe Hebel, the Billings-Hutchison Builders of San Rafael downed the San Anselmo Merchants 7-2 yesterday at Albert Park.

Hebel smashed a home run over the left field wall and also cracked a double and single. The Builders were also pushed by three hits by Ernie Demattei and doubles by Jess Jacinto, Tim Riordan and Jess Munyon.

Winning pitcher for B-H was Bob DeRosa who struck out seven Hub City batters. Suffering the loss for San Anselmo was Steve Miller who allowed 12 hits and struck out 10. For the Merchants, Bill Kline and Russ Honeyman led the attack, each with two singles.

MASTERS KING ARNIE EYES GRAND SLAM

AUGUSTA, Ga., (UPI) — King Arnold Palmer, back on his throne after six months in virtual exile, set his sights today on the U. S. Open — second stop enroute to the grand slam of golf.

Palmer, who became the first-ever four-time Masters champion when he beat defending champion Jack Nicklaus and Texan Dave Marr by six strokes, said he would sidestep the pro tour for the next two weeks and use some of that time to practice on the congressional course in Washington where this year's Open is to be held.

He made it clear that he hopes this might be the year in which he can sweep the big four—the Masters, the U. S. Open, the PGA and the British Open. This is one of the few feats which has escaped him in a fabulous 10-year career that includes 41 tour victories and more than a half million dollars in prize money.

"If I win the U. S. Open, then I definitely will go after the British title," Palmer said. "I'm reasonably sure that I'll be in the British Open under any circumstances and I'll definitely play in the PGA."

NO DOUBTS

Palmer wiped out any doubts about his status at the top of the golf heap yesterday when he posted a 12-under-par 276 to earn $20,000 and come within two strokes of the tournament record set by Ben Hogan back in 1953.

"I was never sure in past Masters that I had really won it on my own," Palmer said.

Bullship Skippers Outsmart Selves

By ALFRED MATSON

The 11th annual El Toro Bullship Race on Saturday proved one thing: That the local, knowledge sailor can outsmart himself by placing too much emphasis on tidal conditions.

A great majority of the 162 skippers had studied their tide books, held high on the reach across the Golden Gate and enjoyed a fast rundown to the finish line off the St. Francis Yacht Club.

But, unfortunately, there were a few who held to the theory that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line and to heck with the tides.

Two such rugged individualists from the fresh water San Jose Sailing Club followed that simple strategy and sailed home double winners. Bob Jacobs was the first to finish and, on the distaff side, Ione Kern grabbed the top trophy for the women, finishing in the eighth spot.

Conditions were excellent and though the winds were not heavy, 10 of the boats flopped which is about par for the course. The race was well patrolled and the dunked sailors were picked up in jig time.

MARINITES WIN AT VACAVILLE

Pru Baxter of Sausalito, driving her Lotus II, won her class and placed second overall in the F Production and H Modified cars yesterday in sports car racing opener before a record crowd of 12,000 at Vaca Valley Raceway.

James Fitzgerald of Corte Madera, driving a Morgan, placed first in the Class G and H Production Cars event Saturday. Walt Benson of Sausalito drove his Porsche to a third place finish in the Class C and E Production.

Charles Kuhn of Novato was F Modified Class winner.

Marin Golf Clubs' Tourney Results

Wally Schmoker, Bob Cruickshank, Al Randig and Bill Brady advanced to the semi-finals of the Indian Valley Men's Golf Club's Spring Handicap Tournament finals yesterday by posting quarter-final victories on the Novato links.

Schmoker eliminated John Baysinger, Cruickshank downed Lynn Sumpter, Randig trimmed John Burmaster, all by 3-1 margins, while Brady upset Bob Hachmyer by a 1 up count.

Seals In Command Of Playoffs

The San Francisco Seals, always at their best in pressure play, are closing in again on the Lester Patrick Trophy — symbolic of supremacy in the Western Hockey League.

The defending champions took a big step last night in defense of the trophy by beating the Los Angeles Blades 4-2 and moved one game in front of the southland challengers at 2-1 at the Cow Palace.

The Seals will have the benefit of the home ice again tomorrow night in the fourth of the best-of-seven series.

Last night's contest was all knotted-up until 19:01 of the third period when defenseman Mo Mantha netted a 25-foot shot for the Seals to give them a 3-2 lead. Mantha was assisted by Wayne Connelly and player-coach Nick Mickoski.

THE CLINCHER

The clincher came only eight second later on a goal by team captain Ed Panagabko who took a short pass from Tom Thurlby.

The Blades drew first blood 7:55 into the game. The Seals came back to tie it on a long, low blast by Mantha lite in the second period.

A Panagabko goal at 9:19 in the third period put the Seals out in front but the Blades tied it once again at 17:09 on a shot by Stan Maxwell.

San Francisco goalie Bob Perreault made 24 saves while his counterpart Jim McLeod stopped 19 pucks.

A crowd of 8,896 viewed the Western Hockey League playoff game.

Redwood, Drake, Novato Nines Beaten

Redwood High School's baseball team gave the University of Santa Clara freshman team its toughest battle of the season before falling to the powerful young Broncos 4-1 Saturday in practice game action at Santa Clara.

In other practice games Saturday, Drake High School lost to the Stanford University frosh 8-2, and Novato dropped a double header to Santa Rosa 3-2 and 6-4.

Santa Clara frosh, winner of 16 straight games this year without a loss, was held to its lowest batting production of the season by Redwood ace Scott Davi. Against Davi, Santa Clara was held to lowest total runs (4), lowest extra base hits (1 double), lowest total hits (5) and most strikeouts by the team (7). Only two of Santa Clara's runs were earned. Dave Cox' triple in the second inning knocked in the lone Redwood run.

Drake was led by the batting performance of Larry Gerughty and Lorry Galassi. Gerughty had two singles and Galassi drove in a run with a single and then scored the other Pirate run on a wild pitch.

Only extra base hit for Novato Saturday was a double by Rusty Druba.

Line scores of the practice games:

Redwood	010 000 0—1	3	2
Santa Clara	300 010 x—4	5	0

Davi and LeBeck; Ruth and Daly.

Drake	200 000 000—2	5	3

Archer, Greeneich (6) and Michaels, Burke (6); Miller, Overmyer (4), Burcett (6) and Laufer, Rowell (5).

Fairfax Garage Team Is Beaten

Boer Indians of San Francisco capitalized on a seven-run, error-filled fifth inning yesterday to edge DeMaestri's Fairfax Garage 8-7 in a semi-pro baseball slugfest in San Anselmo.

The Garagemen outhit the winners 11-8 with Bob Ostaggi slamming a triple and single, Hamish Tyler a double and single and Bill Gallagher and Chip Collins each a pair of singles.

Connolly Picks 1. Giants, 2. Dodgers, 3. Reds, 4. Cards

Provided the pitching is as good as we think, the San Francisco Giants can win the 1964 National League pennant. And handily. They outpower everybody else, particularly if rookies Jay Alou and Jim Hart continue to hold their spring training form. They both can go sour, but we believe they will make it and be outstanding players.

So far I've never been able to read Manager Alvin Dark's mind, but believe his four starting pitchers will be Juan Marichal, Jack Sanford, Bob Hendley and Billy O'Dell. Hendley still has to prove he can be a major league winner, but Dark seems to think he is just about ready to make it.

O'Dell has had good years; a workhorse and strong. He always pitches a lot of innings and can usually be counted on for 12 to 15 really first class games.

Sanford is a guess. He looks great this spring and has been a 24-game National League winner.

Bob Shaw and Bob Bolin will each start some games, but early in the year will look after the important relief assignments. I'd like to see Ron Herbel start, but I guess he'll be in the bullpen, too. However, these are seven good pitchers. The rest of the group is anybody's guess. Billy Pierce might do it. Ken MacKenzie, Jim Duffalo and Gaylord Perry only fair so far. Don Larsen was a real top flighter once, but he hasn't done too much in recent years.

The Giants have good extra players in Harvey Kuenn, Chuck Hiller, Gil Garrido, Cap Peterson and Matty Alou. And they have first class catching in Tom Haller and Del Crandall.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

If you add the slugging of Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays, Willie McCovey to the defensive play of Jimmy Davenport and Jose Pegan you must admit San Francisco has a really solid ball club. It can miss only if the pitching falls way off.

THE L. A. DODGERS still have the big pitching names like Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Ran Perronoski and Bob Miller. We have very little line on the youngsters but hear say that Peter Richert, one of them, has a chance. The rest of the Dodger team doesn't measure up to the Giants, though Tommy Davis, twice the National League batting champion, rates real high. Maury Wills is a terrific offensive player, gets on base often and runs the bases expertly. I doubt whether Jim Gilliam can be as good again as he was the last few years.

The Dodgers still need a third baseman. Frank Howard and John Roseboro (now hurt) are question marks. Howard may or may not come around like so many expect him to do. Ron Fairley is a good sound ball player and Willie Davis may be, one of these days. He hasn't lived up to his potential yet.

The big drawback to the 1964 Dodgers is they will have to make their big fight with 21 players and a bench shortage could hurt 'em badly, especially if somebody is injured. Wally Moon and Dick Tracewski are the best of their extra players. The Dodgers are a good club BECAUSE of their pitching but I think they will be short in the other departments.

CINCINNATI IS rated in my book for third spot. They also have a powerful pitching staff in Jim Maloney, Joey Jay, Jim O'Toole, Bob Purkey, John Tsitouris (won 12 last year), Joe Nuxall and Bill Henry. In Johnny Edward the Reds have the best young catcher in the league; a first class player in shortstop Leo Cardenas, and two stars, Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson. Gordy Coleman contributes power. Bob Skinner didn't hit last year but he figures to be the Reds' third flychaser. The loss of Pete Rose, their all-rookies second sacker, now in the Army, put a terrific crimp in plans for 1964. No matter what way you size up the Reds you've got to say they have a good club that could go far on its pitching strength.

PICKING THE St. Louis Cardinals to finish fourth could be a mistake but I don't think so. They fired their best shots last year and fell short. It's

Marin Baseball Race Starts Tomorrow

Practice is over for the Marin Athletic League baseballers who get down to the business of league play tomorrow in opening round games of the MAL.

Marin Catholic will be at Novato, San Rafael at Tamalpais High in Mill Valley, and Drake will battle Terra Linda High School at Albert Field in San Rafael. All games will start at 4 p.m.

Redwood High School, winner of the league tournament this year, will draw the opening round bye. The Giants will travel to South San Francisco for a practice game with El Camino High, 3:30 p.m.

Early indications of the league this year point to pitching, and lots of it.

Hurling aces are spread throughout the league. Terra Linda has Bill Lee, a returnee from last year who should have a great season. Redwood has a pair of flingers who should win their share of games, Scott Davi and Scott Murphy.

Novato's ace moundsman is Chuck Overmyer, Marin Catholic has Dave Beswick, Drake has Charlie Simontacchi and Tam has Alex Robertson, to mention a few.

The pitching was so evident in the MAL tourney that instead of two being picked on the All-Tournament team, a record number of six hurlers were named to the squad. Davi, Murphy, Overmyer, Beswick and Lee, along with Jim Anderson from guest school DeAnza, were the selected flingers.

Redwood, on the strength of its tournament championship and its pitching depth will have to be one of the teams high on the list when the league comes to a close.

Drake will be defending the league title this year and features a lineup that includes four boys who were selected either first or second team all-league last year. The veteran stars returning for Drake are pitcher Simontacchi, shortstop Terry Tadlock, and outfielders Lorry Galassi and Lon Gallagher.

The other athletes named to the All-Tournament team this year will be out to show fans why they were selected. Included in this group will be Tam catcher Gary Stephens who wields a big bat. And he's only a sophomore. The other Tam player on the team was first baseman Robin Prosch. Tamalpais' Indians were runners-up in the tourney, losing tc Redwood 3-2 in the finale.

Among the top outfielders in the league will be Steve Minutoli of Redwood and Lorry Galassi of Drake, both selected to the MAL All-Tournament team. Minutoli won the final game of the tourney with a single in the last inning that knocked in the big third run for Redwood.

Starts Tuesday, April 14, 1964 — Post Time 1 P. M.

Horse	Odds	Jockey	Comment
Giants	6-1	Dark	Those who think pitching is shaky might not be all wrong
Dodgers	4-1	Alston	Slick pitching but weak in a lot of other spots
Cincinnati	10-1	Hutchinson	Crafty pitching, some power —a long shot bet
St. Louis	8-1	Keane	Creaky club but always dangerous threat
Milwaukee	7-1	Bragan	If they get off flying, could be hard to handle
Philadelphia	15-1	Mauch	Whiz kid complex with phizz club rating
Chicago Cubs	40-1	Kennedy	Great owner, just toddles along for fun of it
Pittsburgh	75-1	Murtaugh	Manager has the "know how" but team doesn't
N. Y. Mets	100-1	Stengel	One club that proves money can't buy pennants
Houston	100-1	Craft	Like the Mets, this is just a nuisance outfit.

Rundown On Title Race In The N.L.

hard to say whether Dick Groat can have another great year like last but if he does, the Cards will have to reckoned with. They have some dandy players — Groat, Bill White, Ken Boyer, Julian Javier, Curt Flood (best centerfielder next to Willie Mayes) and a crack young catcher in Tom McCarver.

Cardinal pitching looks good on paper, but in the main the club won for the pithcers instead of the pitchers winning for the club. Bob Gibson, great colored flinger, is the best of the lot. He won 18 last year after missing six or seven weeks. Gibson makes plenty of trouble for the Giants; in fact for any club. Ernie Broglio is pretty good also but an in-an-outer; won 18 last season. Ray Washburn is the Cards' big hope . . . a fireball youngster who has had arm trouble. Curt Simmons is a canny veteran and always dangerous. Harry Fanok, a rookie, is showing great promise. They say he throws aspirins. The question of how much the Cards will miss Stan Musial will depend on Charley James, Stan's replacement. Some baseball people think James, when he plays everyday, will adequately take the place of Musial. If he does, the Cards hit the jackpot again. The Cards could possibly win it but everybody on the club will have to have one of those super-plus years, particularly Groat. The Cards always get a lot of hits but somehow they impress me as a club that can't go the whole way.

MILWAUKEE IS picked fifth because it is a "sleeper club." With Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews, Felipe Alou, Ed Bailey and Joe Torre, they have almost as much power as the Giants. In September of last year they played the best ball in the league. The Braves also have the pitching to go along with the power—the ageless Warren Spahn, Bob Sadowski, Tony Cloninger, Hank Fischer and Danny LeMaster. They also have a young phenom named Dennis Ribant, a rightrander who won 15 games at Denver last year. Defensively the Milwaukee club is not too slick. They alternate at first base with Gene Oliver, Joe Torre and Len Gabrielson. Torre also catcher and is a good one. These fellows are pretty good hitters but very ordinary in the field. Denis Menke is promising, but only a fair shortstop. On paper the Braves don't look like too much but their bat power recommends and they'll be hard to handle in any one game or any one series.

EVERYBODY TOUTS Philadelphia but I think they're overrated and should finish about sixth. First class pitching, some power, a couple of great outfielders in Tony Gonzales and Johnny Callison but only a fair infield. The Phillies have good pitching, very good. Art Mahaffey, Dennis Bennett, Ray Culp, Jim Bunning from Detroit, Chris Short and Cal McLish assure them good pitching every day. Jack Baldschum is the best reliefer in the league, except maybe for Perronski of the Dodgers. You have to admit the Phils are short on stars but reasonably balanced to make a good fight.

THE CHICAGO Cubs have good pitching in Dick Ellsworth, Larry Jackson, Glenn Hobbie, Bob Buhl and Cal Koonce and two good relievers in Lindy McDaniel and Don Elston. But what the Cubs lack is power.

PITTSBURGH has Roberto Clemente and Bill Mazeroski but the Pirates just don't make any runs for their pitchers. I'm picking the Mets to edge out Houston but neither club will be a factor in the pennant fight.

Indian Valley Women Win In North Bay Golf

Mrs. William May and Mrs. Arthur Sears, both of Novato's Indian Valley Golf Club, took class A honors Friday in the April Tournament of the North Bay Women's Golf Assn. at Vallejo.

Everything Goes Bad For Warriors; Playoffs Tied

Hawks Breeze, 123-95; Final Game Thursday

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks did everything right and the San Francisco Warriors did everything wrong last night in the National Basketball Assn. playoffs and the score showed it:

St. Louis 123, San Francisco 95.

Warriors' Coach Alex Hannum summed it up: "There5s just isn't much you can do in a game like that."

The outcome sent the clubs back to San Francisco to settle the Western Division best-of-seven final set Thursday. Each team has three victories.

The winner meets Boston, the Eastern Division playoff champion, in another best-of-seven series for the NBA title.

St. Louis, utilizing quick hands that stole the ball repeatedly and led to easy fast break baskets, stormed by the Warriors for a 59-33 halftime bulge. That settled the issue as the Hawks never let up after the intermission.

Wilt Chamberlain, who crushed the Hawks with 50 points in a 121-97 Warriors' victory Friday, left the scoring to his teammates in the first half yesterday. Content to pass off, he took only eight shots and notched only eight points by intermission.

Chamberlain began taking his shots in the second half and finished with a game-high of 34 points, but it was too late.

Bob Pettit led the balanced Hawks' attack with 22 points. Richie Guerin and Zelmo Beaty added 19 each.

A brief pushing match spiced the first quarter as players from both benches emptied onto the court. Wayne Hightower and Al Attles of the Warriors were set to take on Beaty but they were separated before any punches were thrown.

PALMER

"There was always the weather or some other factor. But, I really won this one."

He did, too, and called the winning score exactly. Although Marr, who was playing in the same twosome, pulled within three strokes of him eight holes from the end, Palmer reeled off three birdies over the past five holes to crush any and all late-blooming contenders.

Palmer was in a five-way tei after Thursday's first round but led by widening margins thereafter

Palmer, who won the Masters in 1958, 1960, and 1962, pulled away from his three-way tie with Sam Snead and Jimmy DeMaret as threetime champions. Snead never even made the halfway cut this year and Demaret finished a fat 17 strokes back at 293.

Palmer's winnings placed his earnings for the year at $33,488.75 and for his 10-year career at $506,496.84 — more than any other golfer has earned.

Money winners in Sunday's final round include:

Arnold Palmer, $20,000, 69-68-69-70—276; Jack Nicklaus, $10,000, 71-73-71-67—282; Dave Marr, $10,000, 70-73-69-70—282; Bruce Devlin, $6,100, 72-72-67-73—284; Gary Player, $3,700, 69-72-72-73—286; Paul Harney, $3,700, 73-72-71-70—286; Billy Casper, $3,700, 76-72-69-69—286; Jim Ferrier, $3,700, 71-73-69-67—286; Dow Fisterwald, $1,700, 71-72-75-69—287; Tony Lema, $1,700, 75-68-74-70—287; Mike Souchak, $1,700, 75-68-74-70—287; Ben Hogan, $1,700, 73-74-70-70—287.

A Horse of a Different Color(s)

Lest you get the notion this kook has flipped to the paddock area completely, let me assure you I'm a city boy (non-slicker type). This is why Ford's new brain child is so fascinating to me. It has taken all the energy of a few hundred spirited young dobbins, concentrated it, controlled it, and very neatly packaged it. Splashed in almost infinite color and complementary interiors, along with an assortment of engine, transmission and myriad refinement options, it emerges as the Mustang!

Here is a package that will prompt even the fanatic foreign sports car buff to kick his once proud possession in seething frustrations. A word of caution is indicated here: do not kick too hard; most of these imports putt-putt pretty well with their 4 to 6 cylinders and 36 to 95 horsepower, but, confidently, they have a glass jaw. How's that for a mixed metaphor? My English professor has long ago given me up and is scratching around the non-ivy walls of ole Wayne U. for a prospect who talks and writes real American.

And, speaking of things American, you import buffs need not endure the quandary of wanting to kick your little contortionist chamber, and holding back 'cause crashing noises bug you. The indicated remedy is obvious, and is prescribed without charge or medical credentials. Get yourself a new Mustang. Preferably from Ames Ford, of course, since you won't have to wait anywhere near as long for one as from other Ford dealers. We'll take your import off your hands in trade, and then it'll be our problem to dispose of it. I can see the heading on an ad already, "Un-American Car Sale—Grab a Bargain!"

Along with a propensity for unbridled (note the horsey connotation there) enthusiasm over something as exciting as the new Mustang, I am enough of a realist to know this particular car will not interest everybody. A very solid reason for sticking to realism at times is my awareness of Doug Cowan's no-nonsense approach to the art of operating a successful dealership. He's been trying, often with thinly-disguised resignation, to pluck me off Cloud Nine. Like reminding me we have about 275 new Ford cars and trucks on hand, representing a liberal assortment of each of the 44 models, other than Mustang.

So friends, (there must be a few out there!) help me down gently from my cloud, and horse-trade (there I go again!) for one of these non-Mustangs, too. I've tried diligently to wave, friendly like, to every representative of the Law in Marin County, but I don't think they'll take kindly to our storing new Fords along the fence fronting Highway 101. And while I was still up there, sitting blithely on a particularly comfortable puff, I faintly remember ordering 350 more for April and May from that nice Ford man.

Ah, well. We'll have a ball anyway come the 17th. And, so will the kids when they discover six Junior-size Mustangs (live ones) waiting here for them to mount up and ride to their hearts' content, for free, while their folks kick a few tires in temporary peace. And for the argumentatively inclined, we'll have an assortment of "competitive" cars on hand, glaringly labeled and priced. Sort of a mute sales pitch for our Mustang.

We'll do our very best to make your visit stimulating and interesting. If you have a bone to pick with me, I won't be hard to spot, no matter how large the crowds may be. I'll be the ridiculous little guy with horn-rimmed glasses, string tie, and dime-store 2½ gallon hat. Our competition, I am certain, will not be amused.

'MARSHAL J'
One punch — and jail

'Marshal J' Sent To Jail For Battery

Jay Alexander of Novato, known to daytime television watchers as "Marshal J," found himself on the outs with some real-life lawmen in Sausalito today.

Alexander, 37, whose ranch home is at 2373 Dominic Street, was booked on charges of assault and battery early yesterday after William Capilos, 49, a waiter at the Spinnaker at 100 Spinnaker Drive, made a citizen's arrest.

Capilos was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruise on the head and cuts in the mouth. He said a new dental bridge was bent, also. He was reported in good condition at the hospital today.

The waiter had no explanation for what happened. His story, supported by Dennis Schumacker, captain of waiters at the Spinnaker was:

"I was just standing there with my hands behind my back and this customer says, "Come here,' and I take one step toward him — and wap!' "

The "wap" stretched Capilos on the floor.

When a Sausalito policeman arrived, Alexander was outside the restaurant with some friends. Capilos readily identified him by his height (6 feet 5 inches), his high-heeled cowboy boots, and his big cowboy belt buckle.

"Marshal J," whose TV show is a favorite with the small fry, was booked at Marin County Jail, then released on $386 bail to appear at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Fairfax Parks Commissioner Is Resigning

The Fairfax City Council is scheduled to receive the resignation of Park and Recreation Commissioner Peter C. Forni at its regular meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Forni was appointed to the commission in May 1962, and his term expires April, 1966.

The council also will receive a letter from Louis A. Soldavini requesting that he be appointed to the Park and Recreation Commission.

Other items on the agenda include the first reading of a television franchise ordinance, a discussion on smoking by minors, a letter from 25 residents of Redwood Road regarding the parking ordinance, and a request from the Corte Madera Pet Shop for a permit to operate a pet shop.

Arrest Took Place At Home Of Wylies

Bureau of custom agents Friday night arrested Charles and Doris Wylie at their home at 31 Evergreen Avenue and not at the home of Lt. William Walsh of the Mill Valley police department as was reported incorrectly in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

The Wylies were arrested by customs agents, Walsh, and inspector Harold Sleezer of the sheriff's office on charges of possession of marijuana.

COLLEGE SPEAKER — Vance Packard, author of "The Status Seekers" and "The Wastemakers," will speak on "What's Happening to American Character?" at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Olney Hall of College of Marin. His talk, in the college's spring concert and lecture series, will be free to the public.

Man Breaks Leg Chasing Two Teeners

Darrell Miller, 60, of Sausalito broke his right leg yesterday in jumping a fence in pursuit of two Mill Valley boys he saw tampering with his car.

The boys, one 15, one 14, were apprehended by officer E. J. Coady, admitted the deed, and were placed in juvenile hall on charges of petty theft and car tampering.

Miller, who lives at 211-A Woodward Avenue, was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco.

William F. Winkler of 442 Locust Avenue, said police, walked out of Pete's Pier 16, at 2009 Bridgeway at about 9 a.m. and saw the youths "ransacking" Miller's car. Winkler told Miller. Miller came out, the boys ran, and Miller pursued them. The youth threw away a wallet and flashlight reported taken from the car as they ran.

They jumped a fence across Bridgeway. Miller also jumped, and broke his right leg as he fell. The wallet and flashlight were recovered. It was not disclosed what amount of money was in the wallet.

San Rafael Boy First In Contest

Mike Wellen, 16, of San Rafael, placed first in the teen talent contest at the "Date With John Gary" show Friday in San Francisco.

Young Wellen, who plays clarinet, won an RCA recording audition and $150, according to William Gowen of Strawberry, president of the sponsoring Teen Talent Associates, a junior achievement company. It was reported to be the third largest crowd in history at the Masonic auditorium.

Mike is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Wellen of 18 Sirard Lane.

Sleepy Driver Injured In Crash

A 26-year-old Fairfax man was injured yesterday when the car he was driving jumped the curb on a curve of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Winship Avenue, Ross, tore down 20 feet of wooden fence and hit a power pole.

Ross police said David Allen of 66 Willow Avenue, apparently fell asleep at the wheel at 6:20 a.m. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for three broken ribs, cuts on his legs, and bruises of the face.

San Francisco Youths Found Looting School

Four San Francisco youths, one 13 years old and three 16 years old, were found by Sausalito police filling a burlap sack with ice cream bars and other goodies Saturday afternoon in the Richardson Bay School cafeteria.

Also in the bag were 10 pounds of butter, five half-pint bottles of milk, four apples, and a one and one-half pound box of Jello.

Maj. Elton Rodgers of 201 Ebbtide Avenue saw two figures on the school roof at about 4 p.m. and telephoned police. Sgt. Ted Zink and his brother, Officer Tom Zink, found the boys in the cafeteria filling the bag. They were placed in juvenile hall on charges of burglary.

Officers said the pair entered the cafeteria by prying the skylight open with a screwdriver.

Astronomical Group Files For Incorporation

Marin Astronomical Society which began as a small group about 13 years ago has filed incorporation papers as a non-profit organization with Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

The 32-member group, according to James C. Patterson of Mill Valley, treasurer, has as one of its main purposes helping adult and youth groups learn about stars and astronomical phenomenon.

The group invites astronomers from observatories, colleges and universities to speak at its monthly meetings and plans "star parties" throughout the year.

Directors of the newly incorporated group are William N. Breeze, president, Jerome C. Hauke and Joel W. Goodman of Mill Valley.

Meeting Postponed

A meeting of the Tiburon Citizens' Committee, tentatively planned for 3 p.m. Saturday, was postponed to 10 a.m. next Saturday. It will be held at the home of Milton L. Stannard Jr., 3 Greenwood Court, Tiburon, according to Mrs. Frank J. Ryan, secretary.

Boy, 5, Trapped As Car Rolls

A 5-year-old Hamilton Air Force Base bay was pinned between a car and the end of a carport Saturday when his 4-year-old companion released the brake on his father's car.

Robert William Anderson, 5, son of M/Sgt. George Anderson of 40 Selfridge Way, was held overnight at Base hospital for observation of a possible contusion and released yesterday.

Air police reported Gordon Lee Bennett, 4, son of T/Sgt. John T. Bennett of 62 Selfridge Way, released the brake on his father's car which was in the carport of the Bennett home. The car rolled forward, pinning young Anderson between the bumper and the end of the carport.

American Character Topic Of Discussion

Author, Vance Packard writer of four best selling books criticizing American Society will speak on "What's Happening to the American Character?" at Olney Hall, College of Marin, at 8 p.m., tomorrow.

His talk is part of the college's spring concert lecture series, open to the public, at no charge.

WHERE THE ACTION IS...WHERE DECISIONS ARE MADE...SALINGER IS THERE!

CALIFORNIA FOR PIERRE SALINGER • U.S. SENATE • VOTE DEMOCRATIC JUNE 2

Presenting An Original Play

A cast of 20 housewives will be seen in the third Masque Unit of Marin Junior Theatre's play for children on April 25 at San Rafael High School.

The play will be Mrs. John Bridgman's original drama, "The Secret of the Roses," which she wrote especially for the annual Masque Unit production, the final in the winter series for children sponsored by Junior Theatre of Marin.

THE PRODUCTION will feature music, dancing, drama and whimsy as the story of two mythical kingdoms separated by a thick fence of roses. What happens when two children manage to wriggle through the fence provides plot for the play.

Mrs. Woodward Melone of Novato, who has directed the first two Masque Unit plays, is the director again this year. Props, sets and imaginative costumes are all the work of the Masque Unit members. The rose costume designs were done by the late Mrs. James L. Heynemann of Belvedere, who was in charge of sets. Mrs. F. T. Fromhagen is assistant director.

CAST MEMBERS are Mesdames George Cadwalader of Belvedere, who once had her own radio show on CBS; John Bridgman, the author, who plays the role of John; John Willcutt of Kentfield as Nan; Huntley Bennett of Ross as Chris; Kirk Frederick of San Rafael as the rabbit; Donn Douglass of Ross as Orion; E. S. Kilgore Jr. of Tiburon as fence patrolman; L. E. Weisenburg Jr. of San Rafael, clown; Gordon Dunn of San Rafael, Eileen; G. E. French of San Rafael as Rostemary-Jo; Max Thelen Jr. of San Rafael; Charles McPherson of San Rafael as the Queen, and William L. Steward III, who plays the fortune teller. Mrs. Steward, who studied dancing with Cansino in Hollywood, did the choreography for the play.

MRS. DONALD WESTERBEKE of Mill Valley is the "woman from the audience"; and the roses that make up the fence between the kingdoms are Mrs. Donlon G. Gabrielsen, Mrs. George Stevenson, Mrs. John Busturud, Mrs. William Coleman and Mrs. Paul Atkins.

OFFICERS OF the Masque Unit are Mrs. McPherson, president; Mrs. Stevenson, vice president; Mrs. Paul Atkins, Larkspur, secretary; Mrs. Henry B. Grandin Jr. of Ross, treasurer.

PERFORMANCES WILL be at 10:30 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. at the high school auditorium. Tickets will be available at the door. Birthday party reservations chairman is Mrs. Gerald A. DeVore of San Anselmo, announces Mrs. Douglas A. Pease of Kentfield, Junior Theatre of Marin president.

ORIGINAL MUSIC for the play was written by Mrs. Richard MacLaury of Belvedere. Costsume designs are by Mrs. Thelen, props by Mrs. Mary Jane Langlais, and sets are by Mrs. Paul Atkins. Assisting with costumes are Mrs. Frederick and Mrs. J. Stuart Harrison, and with sets are Mrs. Stanley Carlsen, Mr. Weisenburg and Mr. McPherson, San Rafael.

PEGGY BRIDGMAN looks up from her typewriter as she sits on the deck of her home atop Corinthian Island in Belvedere, where she has lived for the past 21 years. Because the Masque Unit, of which she has been a member since its beginning, needed a play and didn't have it, she wrote one—all on verse. "It was a feminine response to a need," she explains. They Needed A Play So She Wrote One—

The author of the Masque Unit's play "The Secret of the Roses," Mrs. John Bridgman of Belvedere, explains her undertaking—"It was a feminine response to a need."

A dynamic and inventive member of the unit which a group of talented Marin housewives formed three year sago to put on a children's play each spring, Peggy Bridgman was recuperating from an illness when she learned that the unit hadn't found a suitable play and offered to write one.

AN IDEA FOR a children's play had come to her while she and her family were spending the summer on their 560 acre ranch in Mendocino — it consisted of two imaginary kingdoms divided by a thick fence of roses, each kingdom with much to offer the other, but separated by distrust.

THE RESULT is a rhymed play, whose wit and whimsy run through three-acts, and uses children and animals, music, dancing and a bit of philosophy to bring a solution of the plot.

Peggy Bridgman is no stranger to a typewriter, having written a novel, "Love Is a Place," and many articles and short stories, but she had not written for children before.

Her own family includes Anita, who is with IBM in New York, Mrs. William Hickey of Mill Valley (Julie Bridgman), a fourth grade teacher with the Dixie School District; and Joseph, 14, who lives with his parents in their Corinthian Island home.

THE BRIDGMANS recently sold their large old home on the top of the island to move into their just-remodeled former guesthouse nearby. There is a specially designed study Mrs. Bridgman does her writing — on an electric typewriter.

An attractive and most important part of the house, the kitchen, reflects another of Peggy Bridgman's talents, and much thought has also gone into its compact design as the setting for her culinary ventures. When the Bridgmans are not on Corinthian Island they are likely at the Mendocino farm, where they ride horses, tend the animals, and busy themselves in artistic endeavors.

AS FOR PLAY WRITING, Peggy Bridgman vows next time she'll write herself a bigger part . . . "I did write myself into this one," she explains with a laugh, "so that the author would have an excuse to go to rehearsals."

ANOTHER OF Mrs. Bridgman's interests is culinary and she has devoted a great deal of thought to the design of the attractive kitchen built into their compact, newly remodeled home. Only a counter separates it from the living room which lends a spacious feeling.

THE AMERICAN CONSUMER

Bargain Hunter Who Needs Protection

(The American consumer—how much she spends, where she buys, what she buys . . . here is the first of five dispatches on the subject.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American consumer is basically a woman, but not necessarily a lady.

She can sniff a bargain sale down wind or up wind and when she rushes to the counter she fights for what she wants with the ferocity of a tigress defending her cubs. She is capable of intimidation and devious tactics in bringing her husband around to the viewpoint that the living room should be painted light green instead of blue.

In increasing numbers she is trying to get something for nothing by doing some amateur shop lifting, especially in the pre-Christmas season. Department store security officers are puzzled why a large number of women with plenty of money and A-1 credit rating steal things.

THE AMERICAN consumer is basically a woman because females, according to educated guesses, control directly or indirectly some 82 per cent of the 380 billion dollars spent annually in this nation.

This is not news to merchants and manufacturers. Years ago they took dead aim on the American woman. That is why so many automobiles are two-toned in soft colors and have fancy interior styling, why there was a sudden flood of "soft whisky" on the market and why contractors spend so much time worrying about the kithens in the houses they build.

NOTHING IS TOO good for the American woman when she has a buck to spend. She is queen of the supermarkets whose owners flatter her and hire psychologists to study her in depth. They also suppress the information that she is irrational and sometimes downright stupid. A food product, advertised for 14 cents, wasn't selling. A smart store owner changed the price to two for 29 cents and business boomed.

THE FEDERAL government throws a protective shield around to keep her from being gypped and to save her from folly. There are 35 federal departments and agencies which in some fashion are charged with protecting the consumer. They include such unlikely organizations as the office of Civil and Defense Mobilization and the Tennessee Valley Authority. Some time ago Congress called upon them to explain what they are doing for the consumer and the subsequent hearing ran into enough words to fill a thick volume.

Whatever they were doing, President Johnson didn't think it was enough. In February he sent a message to Congress dealing with the problems of the consumer and asking for 10 new laws to build additional defenses against persons and firms which defraud the buyer.

"THE ANTIQUATED legal doctrine 'Let the buyer beware' should be superseded by the 'Let the seller make full disclosure,'" Johnson said, and added this list of basic consumer rights:

—The right to safety.
—The right to be informed.
—The right to choose.
—The right to be heard.

He referred to the labels on goods as "silent salesmen" and said they should be "simple, direct, visible and accurate."

"ALL TOO OFTEN she cannot find such labeling today," he added. "The shopper ought to be able to tell at a glance what is in the package, how much of it there is and how much it costs."

Laws are never more effective than the persons who enforce them, and the President wanted somebody to be his eyes and ears in the stepped-up campaign to protect the consumer. He chose a human dynamo named Esther Peterson and named her special assistant for consumer affairs. The fact that she already had a full time job as assistant Secretary of Labor gave no pause to either the President or Mrs. Peterson. She will continue to work at both jobs.

MRS. PETERSON, mother of four, gets so much work done by scrapping the rules that most women live by.

"Some of them take hours to get dressed," she said. "I can dress and get downstairs in 15 minutes, but, of course, I might not look as well as some others."

Due to attend a formal banquet one night, she worked so late she didn't have time to go home and get into an evening gown. She borrowed one from a friend, made some adjustments with pins, attended the banquet, returned the evening dress and went back to the Labor Department to clean up some work.

SHE SAID that she would like to return the consumer to the days of the general store. You could ask the owner about a product and get a truthful answer and a fair price. That is impossible these days, but Mrs. Peterson intends to give it a good try.

You don't have to go any farther than the Republican cloakrooms of Congress to hear that all this agitation about the consumer is a neat trick to pick up votes in the presidential election. Mrs. Peterson plans a national speaking tour. She is a devoted Democrat and knows how to handle audiences small and large. Republicans may charge politics, but none of them denies Johnson picked the right girl.

Colorful Summer Materials Require Particular Pattern

By EUNICE FARMER

"Everywhere I look, summer clothes seem to have large, bold designs. It seems like most patterns would not be suitable for these materials. What kind of pattern must one choose so that it would look right?"—Mrs. M.M.E.

Dear Mrs. M.M.E.:

Yes, this is certainly the year for bold and colorful prints. They are such fun to wear because they're so gay. You must look for a pattern that has very few construction seams, that's why so many of the ready-made dresses are cut in one-piece styles. Ordinarily, I prefer a center-back seam, but with many of these prints, where the design is very prominent, you may eliminate a center back seam. If you do this, be sure to lay the center-back seam line on the fold of your fabric.

Remember to keep the buttons simple, or any trimmings for that matter. Using a cording or bias trim in a solid color to pick up one of the colors in the print is very attractive. Avoid a cluttered look, keep the print important.

"Some of the pictures of good suits in the fashion magazines show the ends of the collars left open. I can't find any patterns that are made like this, so could you please tell me what the purpose of this is, and also, can we do it without a pattern?"—"Bewildered"

Dear Bewildered:

This is one of the details that most women wouldn't be aware of. It's just another detail that designers love to add to a garment to give it a new identity, as they say, "anything to be different."

When cutting your collar pattern, allow an extra inch, to the ends of the collar. When machine stitching the collar, stitch the outer edges only. Turn the ends in on the seamline, loosely hem to collar and press. From this point on, the collar is applied as usual. See sketch for details.

With spring and summer here, most of us are faced with graduations, recitals, and weddings which mean many gathered skirts. This is a real lifesaver and saves not only time, but patience as well.

Cut a piece of string, not thread, two inches longer than area to be gathered. Set your sewing machine for the zig-zag stitch, and machine stitch over the string, be sure not to catch the string in your stitching. This forms a casing for the string, it pulls evenly without breaking once.

Mrs. O. Gladwell, The Dalles, Ore., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this suggestion.

"So often when I have completely lined a skirt as you have suggested, by applying the lining to the fabric and making the darts, seams, etc., together, the hem seems to pull back causing the lower edge of the skirt to roll up and not remain flat and pressed. I've almost gone back to partial linings. Help!"—Mrs. V.G.

Dear Mrs. V.G.:

I would almost say that one thing is certain, the skirt lining is pulling the hem up because it is too tight. This is more apt to happen when the skirt is fitted a little too snug at the hips.

To avoid this, push a slight amount of lining above the hem and baste in place. Next, baste the lining to the skirt fabric on the fold, (hemline). This will guarantee that the lining is going to stay in place all the way to the end of the skirt. Now baste the skirt about 1 inch above the fold line and press. After you have measured the width of the hem, cut off excess and hem to the skirt lining only.

One of the beauties of completely lining the skirt is to avoid the pulled look from stitches going through, also, the additional weight makes the skirt hang better.

Mrs. C.L.H. says:

"When cutting formals out of organza, taffeta, and slippery materials, turn the felt-backed table pads wrong side up so they won't slip off your table. It's also great for pinning sections together. After you are finished, the felt can be brushed with a small piece of nylon net to remove small cuttings and threads.

Marin Women

Interior Designers Advise On Decorating With Plants

This spring the nation's top interior designers are echoing the sentiments of Ellen Lehman McCluskey, who says, "I never do a room without plants or flowers."

The importance of living plants, expertly selected to complement home decor, has long been recognized by professional decorators, and is being understood by more and more homemakers. The growing concern of women with tasteful living and the example of "decorator rooms" that have become a part of department store furniture displays, have contributed to the awareness of the role of plants in decoration.

WITH THE CONTEMPORARY look high among preferences in furniture styling, Mrs. McCluskey thinks that plants are a "must" to soften the boxy, rectangular air of modern rooms and furniture.

Mrs. McCluskey suggests "that tropical plants go very well with contemporary furniture," and that "these large clay-potted green plants are particularly effective in contemporary and provincial settings." In more formal traditional rooms she prefers cut flowers or delicate flowering plants, "double-potted" into porcelain pots to harmonize with color schemes or a more formal 18th century background. William Pahlmann, another of this country's trendsetters in the design field, suggsts out-sized green plants as excellent choices of modern decor, too.

AMONG THE LARGE scale foliage plants recommended—all varieties of philodendron; podacarpus; dracaena; schefflera, and Norfolk Island pine.

Mr. Pahlmann and Mrs. McCluskey recommended choosing foliage and flowering plants that add a "decorative plus" to room settings—plants that are associated with a particular style or era. If you're an enthusiast of Victorian furniture, a large clay-potted palm will add to the mood of the room. Ferns and rubber plants are also reminiscent of the period and the latter go well with French provincial room settings, too.

Those whose preferences are for period furniture like English or French Regency, Empire, Georgian, etc., should use smaller plants to blend with the more delicate scale of the furniture. Flowering plants are interesting in this type of room. Much use is made of the smaller foliage plants also, especially the flowing varieties like ivy.

New Triple C President Has Been Mill Valleyan 60 Years

Mrs. Frank J. Connelly, new president of the Mill Valley Community Church Club, whose family brought her to Mill Valley when she was a child, has good reason to be interested in preserving its beauty.

Born in Alameda, Karen and her sister Alphid, now Mrs. De Witt Clark of Mill Valley, and their two brothers came to Mill Valley with their Swedish-born parents in 1904. Their father, Alfred A. Lundquist, superintendent of the Sanborn Map Company, was knighted by King Gustavus V of Sweden for his contribution to Swedish-American relations.

MRS. F. J. CONNELLY

ACQUAINTED with Marin through camping and hiking, the Lundquists bought part of a hill to have a campsite of their own. This eventually became a homesite, and when Karin married Frank Connelly, who was assistant to the president of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad until his death in 1956, they bought the house her parents had built next door.

Mrs. Connelly has lived there ever since.

SHE FOUND her activities in the Outdoor Art Club a perfect way of working for the welfare of her beloved town and twice served as the club's president, once in the 1930s and once in the 1940s. She also served as treasurer, parliamentarian and member of the board of directors many times. And she held the chairmanship of every committee at one time or another.

SHE WROTE a history of the club containing much of Mill Valley's history, which is now available in the Mill Valley Library.

Of the Triple C (as the Community Church Club is known) she says: "I have been a member as long as I can remember." But this is the first time she has been an officer of the club, which is open to any interested women, not just church members.

"ITS PURPOSE, in my opinion," she said, "is extension of friendship and understanding of the church."

Karin was educated in Mill Valley schools, including the old Summit Elementary School, and was graduated from Tamalpais High School. She attended Munson's Secretarial School in San Francisco and was employed in the bookkeeping department of Edward Brown and Sons Insurance Brokers in San Francisco before her marriage.

Since then she has taken numerous courses in many fields of interest.

RED CROSS, P-TA and the Mill Valley concert series that was sponsored for 11 years by the Outdoor Art Club, benefitted from her energetic leadership.

The new Triple C president enjoys the theater, bridge and music and was for many years an associate member of the Pacific Musical Society of San Francisco.

Today she spends as much time as possible with her children and three grandsons and on trips to the Sierras and the seashore.

Her children are Mrs. Robert H. Kirchmann of Belvedere and Carol Connelly, who lives with her mother in Mill Valley. She is a third grade teacher at the Strawberry School.

The other new officers of the Triple C are Mesdames Victor Rowe, vice president; Kenneth Burton, recording secretary; Willis Elliott, corresponding secretary; Carlton Banigan, treasurer; James Bertenshaw, historian, and Joel Gustafson, William B. MacLane and Richard L. Parino, directors. Mrs. Parino is the outgoing president.

Gruenbaum's topic will be "The Church and Personal Problems."

Central Marin Delegates Chosen For Voters Meeting

Mrs. William C. Anderson of San Anselmo and Mrs. Ward Duffy of Fairfax, will represent the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at the national convention of the League of Women Voters April 20-24 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. Anderson is in the second year of her terms as president of the Central Marin League. Mrs. Duffy, currently chairman of the League of Women Voters of the Bay Area, is a past president of the local league and a former vice president of the League of Women Voters of California.

The two delegates will join 82 others from throughout the state for a charter flight from San Francisco to Pittsburgh on April 19.

Rotate Draperies For The Best Wear

In the spring a housewife's fancy turns to thoughts of crisp, clean curtains and draperies. Mrs. Anne Sterling of the American Institute of Laundering suggests rotating the curtains and draperies if it is practical to do so.

By rotating draperies occasionally from sunny windows to unexposed windows, it equalizes the effect of the sun on the fabric. Constant exposure to direct sunlight weakens most fibers.

Frequently cleaned draperies and curtains will wear longer and look better because soil that can cause permanent discoloration does not become imbedded in the fabric.

When having your curtains and draperies cleaned professionally, inform the laundryman or drycleaner when they contain glass yarns or synthetic fibers. This will enable him to give your items the specialized care they require.

WE'RE DOING GOOD BY DOING NOTHING

Frankly, we're not exactly "do-gooders" at Redwood National Bank. But we are in the business of service. And sometimes, we can do good, by doing nothing. Take service charges for checking accounts. Our charges? Nothing.* Nor do we charge for bank-by-mail. We pay the postage. Both ways. We don't even let you pay for parking. We've a free lot right in back. Admittedly, we charge for some things. If you borrow money from us, we charge interest. Naturally. Yet, wherever possible, we study ways of saving you money. Like, say, no charges for checking accounts. In that case, we can state, (smugly), "We're doing good by doing nothing."

Today is Monday, April 13, the 104th day of 1964 with 262 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Mercury.

Thomas Jefferson, the third U.S. president, was born on this date in 1743.

On this day in history:

In 1846, the Pennsylvania Railroad was chartered.

In 1865, Union Gen. William Sherman took Raleigh, N.C., and ended his "march to the sea."

In 1934, Harry Hopkins, chief of the Civil Works Administration, announced that 4.7 million families were on relief.

In 1941, Russia and Japan signed a five-year neutrality pact.

A thought for the day — American war correspondent Ernie Pyle said: "If you go long enough without a bath even the fleas let you alone."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Treat Hand As Dummy When Ruffs Are Cut Off In Game

As a rule, you gain a trick by ruffing in the dummy but gain nothing by ruffing in your own hand.

If the defenders prevent you from ruffing in dummy, you may be able to turn the table and make your own hand the dummy.

When this hand was played in the recent Intercollegiate Championships, the defenders were required to lead trumps at every opportunity.

RUFF SPADE

If South tried to ruff a spade in dummy he would have to give East a spade trick, and East would then draw dummy's trumps to prevent the ruff.

South makes the contract by treating his own hand as the dummy. Instead of ruffing one spade in the North hand, he ruffs three diamonds in the South hand.

First, South allows East to hold the first trick with the jack of hearts. If East switches to any side suit, South can win, give up a spade, and ruff a spade in the North hand. As it happens, however, East leads a second trump.

RUFF DIAMONDS

South wins the second trick with the ace of trumps, cashes the ace of diamonds, and gets to dummy with a club to ruff a diamond. Declarer gets back to dummy twice more with clubs to ruff the rest of dummy's diamond.

By this time South has eight tricks safely tucked away. He leads his last club, offering East the chance to ruff in if he wishes to do so.

If East does ruff, he must lead spades away from the king, and South will make an overtrick. East must refuse to ruff to save one trick, but he cannot defeat the contract.

NINE TRICKS

If South were allowed to play the hand normally, he would lose the five and six of trumps to East, but would win the ace, eight and seven in his own hand together with one ruff in dummy for a total of four trump tricks.

When dummy's ruff is cut off, South makes four trump tricks by ruffing with three of his own low trumps. The ace of trumps is, of course, his fourth trump trick.

DOCTOR REPORTS

Mortality High For Babies In Ecuador

By FRANK FARRARA

Fifty per cent of the babies in many urban areas of Ecuador die from starvation or its accompanying diseases in the first two years of life.

So stated Dr. Andrew Noble, San Rafael pediatrician, who returned this week from a volunteer two-month tour of duty aboard the hospital ship USS Hope in Guayaquil, Ecuador.

"Most of the deaths came between the ages of nine months and two years," he said.

Undernutrition is the biggest disease in the world in the field of pediatrics, he said. "It's either too many children or not enough food."

He described Ecuador as a small, underdeveloped country, which typifies the problems of such countries throughout the world.

"It suffers from lack of education, lack of food, and from a surplus of people," he said. "Extreme poverty is widespread and disease is rampant."

He mentioned tetanus, diptheria, typhoid fever and polio, and pointed out that the country has no widespread immunization program. "There are a great number of cripples," he said.

Dr. Noble said the work of the Hope's volunteer staff is a worthwhile endeavor which encourages the Ecuadorians to solve their problems and shows them that non-residents are interested and willing to help.

He said the people-to-people approach of the Project Hope lends a setting of companionship to the efforts of the visiting doctors and the local doctors, who work together.

Dr. Noble, who worked with his Ecuadorian counterpart, said "We learned as much as we taught; particularly about tropical diseases and parasites."

On the other hand, government-to-government help is "amazingly difficult to administer, often suspect and always impersonal," he said. "It is often diverted for selfish reasons or given under a false name or credit or with strings attached."

The Hope, a floating medical center, is operated through contributions from Americans, and staffed by doctors who work without pay. "They provide the transportation," Dr. Noble said.

The program has two purposes, he said, one to train the local personnel on a person-to-person basis and second to cure the patients.

There is a staff of 30 doctors, 70 nurses and laboratory technicians working aboard the Hope, he said. "What we did was only a drop in the bucket, but we provide an example."

Dr. Noble relieved Dr. Rainer G. Arnhold of Sausalito who is in charge of the pediatric section for the Hope.

42 Marin County Students Win State Scholar Awards

Forty-two Marin County high school and college students have been named "state scholars," qualifying them for scholarship awards in the 1964-65 school year.

They are among some 1,800 California students chosen from approximately 20,000 applicants, according to Arthur S. Marmaduke, executive director of the California State Scholarship Commission.

Students may receive up to $1,500 under the program. They are picked from the top three per cent of college aptitude, and may renew the award yearly if they maintain grade standards and continue to show financial need.

Four of the 42 Marinites chose a new program in which they may attend junior colleges, holding their scholarships in reserve until they go to four year schools.

Scholars chosen from Marin County include:

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Older Persons Sometimes Suffer From Painful Cramps When Out For A Walk

VAN DELLEN

A reader writes: "I am an old man and have remained physically fit by walking several miles every day. But my legs are giving out. I develop pain in the calf after walking a block. It disappears if I stop for a minute but returns after walking another block."

This symptom is called intermittent claudication and, after age 50, hardening of the arteries of the legs usually is responsible. The condition was described by a French veterinarian more than a century ago. He noticed that for no apparent reason, older horses stopped walking and refused to budge even though whipped. After a short rest they started again only to halt on walking an equal distance. Later, autopsies on these animals showed extensive arteriosclerosis.

INTERMITTEN claudication occurs during exertion because the calf muscles do not obtain enough nourishment. The circulation is adequate when the muscles are at rest, which explains why relief follows standing for a few minutes.

Our reader can avoid distress by stopping just short of the distance that brings on pain. He should rest after walking three-quarters of a block. This will help unless there is a progressive reduction of the flow of blood.

MANY OLDSTERS are embarrassed when they are forced to stand still, seemingly for no good reason. One of my patients almost had his face slapped by a woman walking from the opposite direction. Pain forced him to stop suddenly about 10 feet in front of her and he had nothing to offer except a silly grin. Afterward, he found it easier to walk down the alleys or on commercial streets where he could pretend to be window shopping.

Various medical and surgical remedies are available for this type of leg cramp.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

BAD PRACTICE

E. S. writes: Is it harmful to the baby to test the milk by sucking it through the nipple of the bottle? I think it is. This mother also levels off a spoonful of food by first sharing it—"Some for me—some for you." What do you think?

REPLY

The same as you do. The adult mouth teems with microorganisms, against many of which the baby has no defense.

MORNING COUGH

J. K. writes: I have mild emphysema and cough only in the morning on getting up. We are going to install air conditioning in our home. Will this help, hurt, or make no difference in the disease?

REPLY

It may help, especially if the air is filtered.

AGING SKIN

S. J. writes: Since I had my prostate removed a year ago, my formerly smooth skin has acquired a shriveled, checkered appearance like that of a mummy. Is this a natural result of a prostatectomy?

REPLY

No, but you may have aged since the operation.

BITTER TASTE

R. K. writes: Is a bitter taste in the mouth a symptom of sinus disease?

REPLY

Possibly, but there are more common causes, including nervousness and gastrointestinal disorders.

IRRITATION FROM CHLORINE

M. H. writes: Is it dangerous to open the eyes under water in a chlorinated pool?

REPLY

No, but it might cause temporary irritation.

Vehicle License Fees Share Totals $900,000

Marin County and its cities have received more than $900,000 from the state as partial advance payment on their share of state-collected vehicle license fees.

Of this sum, the county got $488,952, while $419,347 went to the cities.

The money was part of some 104.7 million dollars distributed cities and counties throughout the state, according to State Controller Alan Cranston.

It represented three fourths of fees which the state expects to collect during the six-month period ending May 31. Balance of the money will be paid in June, after the actual total of collections is known.

Payments to Marin cities, based on population, ranged from the $9,600 received by Belvedere to San Rafael's $102,000.

This much went to other cities in Marin County:

Corte Madera, $30,200; Fairfax, $27,400; Larkspur, $27,000; Mill Valley, $45,200; Novato, $90,600; Ross, $10,400; San Anselmo, $50,500, and Sausalito, $25,277.

Cities' share is computed on the basis of $4.11 per capita, while counties receive $3.33 per capita.

Social Security Report Is Given

Marin County residents receiving social security checks at the end of 1963 numbered 11,323, according to Mrs. Mercia Leton Kahn, district social security manager.

The figure for the end of 1964 represents an increase of 9964 over the corresponding figure the year before.

The total amount of payments for the year was 11.1 million dollars.

The breakdown on figures was: retired workers, 6,442; wife or husband, 1,435; widow or widower, 1,316; mothers and children, 1,752, and disabled workers and dependents, 556.

Hill Haven Group Names Directors

Three new members of the Hill Haven Property Owners Assn. were elected Friday to the group's seven man board of directors.

Albin Dittli, Mrs. William J. Kaffer and Thomas P. Nock will replace retiring members Lawrence E. Dewey, George E. Dowling and John B. Huntington Members also heard brief statements by three candidates for Tiburon City Council, Miss Ann L. Ellinwood, George B. Botoloff and Fred C. Hannahs.

Democratic Candidates To Speak

George McCabe of Santa Rosa and Merle Orchard of Ukiah, candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress, will speak at a meeting sponsored by the Sausalito Democratic Club at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Gate Theater, Sausalito.

Bob Politzer, club president, said the candidates be asked the following four questions:

1. What steps would you take to preserve the scenic uniqueness of Marin County in the face of rapid urbanization?

2. What program do you recommend to retrain persons who lose their jobs through automation?

3. What measures would you recommend to prevent the future occurrence of racial concentrations such as Marin City?

4. What congressional action would you recommend in light of increasing international pressure to recognize mainland China?

There will be a question period after candidates answer the four prepared questions, Politzer said.

OSCAR'S TRADITION

Even Losers Give Off Great Glow

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Here's some stuff about the oscars that most of tonight's winners and losers will have forgotten, if indeed they ever knew.

The very first winners back in 1928 were Emil Jannings for "The Way Of All Flesh" and Janet Gaynor for "Seventh Heaven." The winning picture was "Wings."

The losers that year still glow with greatness — Richard Barthelmess and Charlie Chaplin among the actors; and Louise Dresser and Gloria Swanson among the actresses.

Acadamy award members had a fit in 1944 when Barry Fitzgerald was nominated for best actor and best supporting actor of the same role, that of the doughty old priest in "Going my Way." Bing Crosby won the oscar for best actor in that picture, Fitzgerald took the supporting trophy. Thereafter the rules were changed.

Only once has there been a tie and two Oscars parceled out for the best acting award. The year was 1932. The winners were Wallace Beery ("The Champ") and Frederick March ("Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde").

Walter Brennan is the only triple actor winner in the history of the oscars, having won best supporting awards in 1936, 1938 and 1940.

Another first occurred in 1940 when two foreigners copped the top acting awards—Vivien Leigh for "Gone With The Wind" and Robert Donat for "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

First president of the motion picture academy was Douglas Fairbanks Sr.

The first awards party was held at the Coconut Grove with the Oscars (nameless statuettes at that time) being handed out after a fancy dinner.

Lionel Barrymore ran off with the best actor award in 1931 while one of his competitors, Jackie Cooper, was sound asleep on Marie Dressler's lap.

Perhaps the zaniest award was the writing Oscar in 1959 when the winner was Robert Rich for "The Brave One." No one knew Rich and he wasn't there to pick up the award for the very good reason that Robert Rich was the pen name of black-listed Dalton Trumbo.

In the 36-year history of the oscar race no actor has managed to win both best actor award and best supporting actor, although many performers have been nominated in both categories.

As coveted and cherished as the oscars are to movietowns hams and hamsters, it is jolting to realize just how fleeting fame can be. Test yourself: who were last year's big winners?

Here they are:

Best picture — "Lawrence Of Arabia."

Best Actor — Gregory Peck ("To Kill A Mockingbird.")

Best actress—Anne Bancroft ("The Miracle Worker.")

Shut Session By Kentfield Trustees Set

The Kentfield School District board will meet in an executive session tonight to discuss evaluation, salaries and re-employment of the administrative staff.

Supt. Howard C. Harmon said the closed meeting had been called to discuss these three matters. The board's regular meeting begins at 7:45 p.m. in the library of the Wolfe Grade School.

The employment of Principals George Stratton and Daniel C. Woodward, administrative assistant Anthony G. Bacich and guidance consultant Jack D. Williams is on a year-to-year basis, Harmon said.

Since the administrative staff is not included in raises given recently to teachers and classified employees, raises would be determined "during negotiations with the board" at the closed meeting, Harmon said.

Discussion of salaries is not among the topics legal for closed sessions under either the Ralph M. Brown Act in the California Government Code or the open meeting provisions of the California Education Code.

Harmon's own contract does not expire until next year. He said his appearance in the closed meeting "will be more of an evaluation rather than re-employment."

Before going into closed session, the board will consider plans for summer school and view preliminary plans for the addition to the Wolfe Grade School.

Dairymen To Attend Meeting In Modesto

Marin County dairymen will attend the 23rd annual meeting of the Sonoma-Marin Dairymen's Assn. in Modesto April 23, according to A. J. Bianchi of Point Reyes Station, association president.

Richard W. Owens, secretary-treasurer of the California Farm Bureau, will address the meeting.

National Park Aide To Speak In Marin

Warren Hamilton, director of the Western Region of the National Park Service, will speak at a dinner meeting of the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce at the West Marin Community Center, Point Reyes Station, at 7:15 p.m. Thursday.

Hamilton will talk about the economic impact that establishment of a national park has on neighboring communities.

Pay TV, Second Bridge Topics Due Supervisors

A hearing on pay TV and a discussiion on a second crossing between Marin and San Francisco are scheduled for the meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors to start at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center.

The supervisors earlier took a stand favoring placing on the ballot a measure which called for prohibition of subscription television in California, but decided to reconsider after opponents of the initiative measure asked for time to present their side.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs will make the report on the bay crossing. He asked for time after reports that the state is now deciding whether the next bay bridge to be built should connect San Francisco with Marin or Alameda.

The board will also hold a hearing on proposed changes in the county electrical code. The changes have been agreed to by contractors within the county.

On the agenda also is the application for an adjustment in zoning to allow installation in Gallinas Village of a rest home. The Gallinas Village has opposed the variance, gra has opposed the variance, granted by the county planning commission.

County Administrator Alan Bruce has asked for an ordinance change to set Aug. 1 as the deadline for purchase of dog licenses each year. The due date had been left out of the new animal control ordinance by error.

Brown: Battle Nearly Won To Save Redwoods

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Friday that the state had nearly won its battle to save redwoods and bring back fish runs in the Rockefelier Forest-Bull Creek area of Humboldt County.

For the first time since 1956, no major destruction or tree loss was suffered from winter flood waters pouring down Bull Creek into the Eel River, Brown said.

And for the first time since 1955, steelhead were migrating up Bull Creek and spawning in 20 miles of tributary streams, he quoted the State Division of Beaches and Parks. Silver and king salmon also were returning for the first time in eight years.

Rockefeller Forest is the world's largest, containing some of the finest coast redwoods and its tallest trees. It is in Humboldt Redwoods State Park.

50 Groups To Meet On Housing

Representatives of almost 50 organizations have registered for a meeting on housing for the elderly called by Marin County supervisors for April 29 at 8 p.m. at the supervisors' chamber at the Civic Center.

Richard Phenix, county coordinator for senior citizen programs, said about a third of the organizations have requested time for their representatives to speak at the meeting.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, chairman of the newly formed Citizen's Committee for Housing of Marin's Elderly, will report and there will be presentations of proposed housing programs. The deadline for delegate registration is April 20, Phenix said.

Marinite Named Seminary Intern

John Clarence Moyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen E. Moyer of 135 Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, has been named a Danforth Seminary Intern for 1964-1965.

The fourteen Danforth Seminary interns will use the grant for a year of supervised training at seminaries to help them decide whether a campus ministry would be a desirable future.

Moyer, a graduate of the University of Southern California, is a student at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Serving On Carrier

Navy radarman seaman Michael B. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine H. Hunter of 237 Blackstone Drive, San Rafael, is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare carrier Hornet which recently arrived in Yokosuka, Japan on the final leg of a six-month Far East cruise.

"Where do you get your rebozos?"
"The same place I get my cement."

Many years ago, rebozos, colorful hand-woven shawls, were a major export of Mexico. Today, Mexican exporters are more apt to be offering cement.

Like other nations, Mexico became industrialized, and more technically accomplished. Now, Mexico exports more than 1000 manufactured articles, ranging from ball bearings to electric toasters. And the tradition of quality synonymous with rebozos is kept alive in today's products. You can still get rebozos—the same place you get your cement.

Knowledge of our modern neighbor is important today. Send for the free 16-page booklet, "Know Mexico," Box 1900, New York 19.

Presented in the interest of International goodwill through the cooperation of The Advertising Council, the Consejo Nacional de la Publicidad, and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.
